Wolfson Is Winner in Ward Case

Board's 9 Places Up in Election

Springfield, Ill., April 15 (AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court today ruled in favor of Louis E. Wolfson in his campaign to win control of Montgomery Ward & Co.

The decision upholds Wolfson's contention that Ward's system of electing three of its nine directors at annual meetings of stockholders was unconstitutional. The Supreme Court's opinion upheld a ruling by Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher of Chicago.

JUDGE FISHER ruled that all nine places on the Ward board of directors should be at stake in the annual meeting of stockholdders next Friday in Chicago.

Wolfson wanted the election to involve all nine directors because it would give him a mathematical chance to elect a majority.

The opinion said that while the constitutional provision "does not expressly prohibit staggered elections" it also does not "foreclose a construction which invalidates the statute authorizing such election."

THE COURT TOOK note of Ward's argument predicting "alarming results" if Wolfson's suit was upheld. The court said there are 1,655 domestic corporations whose securities are listed on the major stock exchanges. Only 196, or 11.8 per ccent, have classified boards of directors elected for staggered terms.

Of this list of 196, the court said, only 15 are Illinois corporations and only six out of 65 major retail corporations have staggered board of directors.

"Consequently, we do not believe that the disturbance envisioned by appellants (Ward) will be widespread," the court said. "Appellants also voiced serious misgivings as to the future of the corporate life and commercial transactions if classified boards are held to infringe the Constitutional right."

"These fears are unwarranted," the court said.

The Supreme Court decided the Circuit Court was correct in holding unconstitutional Section 35 of the Illinois Business Corporation Act.

Alternates named were H. Van Wyck Darrow, second vice president, and Chester A. Baltz, Sr., a past president of the club.

Plunket Will Request Signing of Viaduct Bill

Proposed addition of Hurley avenue and a section of Washington avenue, including the viaduct, to the city's state-planned arterial route system, gained new support today with the announcement by Thomas J. Plunket, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, that he will ask Gov. Averell Harriman to sign a bill authorizing the additions.

Hurley avenue from the city line to Washington avenue, about a mile, and about .28 of a mile of Washington avenue, would be added. Hurley avenue would be added as part of Route 209. The Washington avenue section extends from the town of Ulster line to Hurley avenue.

LEGISLATION on the proposal was sponsored by State Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson, after Mayor Frederick H. Stang and the local Common Council had moved, early this year, for elimination of the viaduct as a main objective.

Copies of the Assembly and Senate acts were sent to Plunket, by Governor Harriman with a request that they be checked and the governor be advised as to whether they should be signed into law.

THURSDAY Plunket stated he received such a communication from the governor and he would recommend that the governor sign the bills. "They were sent to me for checking locally, by the governor, and I shall recommend to him that he sign the legislation," said Plunket.

Bills were introduced in both the Senate and Assembly and passed by both houses. Assemblyman Wilson introduced the measure in the Assembly on February 22, as an amendment to the existing Kingston Arterial Route law which had previously placed Wurts street, McEntee street, Broadway and its intersection with St. James street and Albany avenue on the Arterial route. Also included in the state maintained routes through the city under existing legislation is East Chester street from Broadway to the city line and Albany avenue from East St. James street to the city line.

Theft, Burglary Attempt Being Checked by Police

A theft of clothing from Schindel's store in the Empire Market shopping center and a burglary attempt at School No. 7 were reported to the police today.

Jackets, slacks and shirts were reported stolen from Schindel's store, according to Elliot Schindel and William F. Crosby, comanagers, but they said full extent of the theft will not be known until an inventory is taken.

A BACK DOOR leading to a separating alley between the market and the Schindel store was entered either by use of a key or the picking of a lock, they said. Then a window of the store was jimmied. The person or persons, who entered the building, left through the back door.

Items of clothing appeared to have been "taken in twos," a possible indication that more than one person was involved, Schindel said.

Kingston Asked To Support 156th Recruit Program

Acting Mayor Joseph Kelly today issued a proclamation asking "all citizens and organizations" to support the recruiting campaign "Operation Full Strength" for the 27th Armored (Empire) Division and its individual units.

THE DRIVE is from this date through April 30, and the acting mayor noted that the city has the following units in the division: Headquarters and Headquarters Battery, Battery A and Service Battery, and Medical Detachment, 156th Field Artillery Bn., NYNG.

Units of this division, he said, "are a vital and important part of the National Defense Team assuring the security of the United States and the State of New York."

Men, (especially veterans) between the ages of 17 and 35 years of age, are urgently needed to bring the division up to full strength without delay, he emphasized.

Everyone, he said, should extend "aid, support and assistance to the recruiting campaign to the division and its units located at the New York State Armory during the period from this date, continuing through April 30."

Court Ponders Right Words To Cut School Segregation

Washington, April 15 (AP) — The Supreme Court's nine justices today begin pondering the complexities of putting into precise words orders to wipe out segregation of whites and negroes in public schools.

Four days of conflicting arguments over what the court should do ended yesterday without any indication that the justices had settled on what they should say in the court's decrees.

"The naked question," as Justice Black phrased it, was settled last May 17. On that day the court struck down its 1896 "separate but equal doctrine," and said segregation in the schools is unconstitutional.

But the court, saying that "the formulation of decrees in these cases presents problems of considerable complexity," called for legal arguments on how and when to put the historic decision into effect.

Important questions, as well as legal technicalities, still must be decided. Presumably the answers will be forthcoming before the court recesses for the summer in June.

One of the toughest is whether the court itself should fix a cut-off date for ending segregation. Three different viewpoints were presented in the arguments.

The Eisenhower administration, represented by U. S. Solicitor General Simon E. Sobeloff, argued against a firm deadline, saying the matter should be left largely to U. S. District Courts. But Sobeloff urged the Supreme

Two More Senators Asking Dulles About Airmen's Plight

Washington, April 15 (AP)—Two more senators called today for an accounting from Secretary of State Dulles of United Nations efforts to obtain release of 15 U. S. airmen jailed in Red China.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa) said Dulles should tell the Senate Foreign Relations committee "exactly what the situation is today."

If Dag Hammarskjold, UN secretary general, has failed in his attempt to win the fliers' freedom, Hickenlooper said, the United States "should consider what to do, either unilaterally or with the help of our allies."

Sen. Mansfield (D.-Mont.) cautioned against "impassioned or indiscreet" demands for tough U. S. counter-action but he said Congress "should have a complete report from Dulles and we should get that report next Tuesday."

Dulles is slated to go before the committee that day to answer questions on last month's publication of the long-secret Yalta papers.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, and Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) joined yesterday in a demand for testimony by State and Defense Department officials next week on Ham-

Wage Rift Could Still Car Firms

Huge Plants Are Humming Now

Detroit, April 15 (AP)—The auto industry is busting its Seams, turning out record production in a syphony of men and machines.

It's hard to imagine all this could be stilled by a labor strike two months from now.

Yet that's what seems sure to happen if the car producers and the CIO Auto Workers Union fail to agree on the guaranteed annual wage and other issues in their current contract negotiations.

With the bargaining barely under way, let's take a look at one of the bustling "automated" factories that are making the money that the haggling is all about.

AT FORD'S huge Rouge plant, the guide said it was the largest single manufacturing concentration in the world.

Here cars start out as coal and iron ore, and plastics and textiles and roll glistening off the assembly line at the rate of more than one a minute, all in one place.

The Rogue plant covers 1,200 acres, employs 65,000 workers. Cover acres of parking lots.

The engine plant has been "automated," fitted out with those new automatic machines which, untouched by human hands, bore rough cast aluminum engine blocks with a precision tolerance of 1/10,000th of an inch. Until recently this plant was closed to outsiders.

THE MACHINERY does all the work. Workers only watch the dials, making sure the machines keep going.

The car assembly line is the real wonder. A man handling a tool weighing hundreds of pounds, yet so delicately counter-balanced it can be directed with one finger, is a sight to behold, a triumph of engineering achievement and worker skill.

Each worker has his particular job to do at a particular speed. There's no loafing.

Memorial Day Plans Underway

First plans for the city's annual Memorial Day parade were made at a meeting of the Kingston Veterans Association last night, and plans for a new veterans' monument were also announced.

John Mayone was again named general chairman of the parade and it was unanimously voted that Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy is to be grand marshal.

It is tentatively planned to hold the parade on Sunday, May 29, the day before Memorial Day. It will start at the high school and end at Dietz Stadium, the same as last year.

The announcement of plans for the new memorial to veterans of all wars, revealed that a block of granite, weighing about five tons, had been obtained through the efforts of Albert J. Melville, of the VFW, and it is planned to set in the stone a bronze plaque as a permanent memorial to all veterans.

Meeting Is Scheduled April 22

Medical Groups Going to Capital

Washington, April 15 (AP)—The fairest possible method of distributing supplies of Salk polio vaccine will be sought at a government-sponsored meeting of doctors, health officials and manufacturers here on April 22.

Announcing this last night, Secretary of Welfare Hobby said:

"The objective . . . will be to carry out the President's directive to explore every possible means for assuring equal opportunity for immunization for all those who wish it as quickly as possible."

Mrs. Hobby said that among those being invited are representatives of the American Medical Assn. (AMA) and other medical groups, the Assn. of State and Territorial Health Officers, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the pharmaceutical industry.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis endorsed yesterday the new method recommended by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, discoverer of the vaccine. Previous test have involved three injections over a period of a few weeks.

THE NEW METHOD calls for two shots, two to four weeks apart, with a third to be administered seven months later as a "booster."

The Foundation said children who received the vaccine last year will be given a booster shot.

The children to get this booster shot number a half million.

The children to be inoculated in the foundation's two-shot plan will have to get their booster shots from private physicians.

On this point, yesterday's announcement in New York said:

"It will be impossible for the National Foundation to offer that dose to the same children, for obvious reasons. This fact, however, will be compensated by the immediate availability through commercial channels of the first two doses for an additional 4½ million children because of the National Foundation's following of Dr. Salk's recommendations."

Pickets Halt Operations In Alabama Steel Plant

Atlanta, April 15 (AP)—Operations were halted by picketing today in U. S. Steel's giant Fairfield, Ala., plant while a general strike in Birmingham loomed in sympathy with striking telephone and railway workers.

Suddenly appearing pickets surrounded the Fairfield plant of big steel's Tennessee Coal & Iron Division plant at Fairfield last night. The largest steel mill in the south, it employs about 20,000.

R. E. Farr, United Steelworkers (CIO) district director, in mid-morning reported the plant closed. A company official said a survey was under way to determine to what extent operations had been affected elsewhere.

FARR PREDICTED all businesses and industries in the booming Birmingham area would feel the effects of the strike. He described the demonstration as "spontaneous among the rank and file" and said he had spent a week vainly trying to head it off.

The plant at Fairfield, a Birmingham suburb, normally operates three blast furnaces, 12 open hearth furnaces and various finishing plants. Steel ingot capacity is 2,300,000 a year.

THE POSSIBILITY of a general strike in Birmingham came only a few hours after Gov. Lawrence Wetherby of Kentucky, as chairman of the southern governors conference, called a Tuesday conference "for the purpose of discussing a plan of action for the governors as a group to take to bring about the settlement of these controversies." It will be held in the

National Officer Of Realtors Is To Speak Here

New York, April 15 (AP)—The Associated Press news report now is received at almost the same moment in all parts of the inhabited world, AP General Manager Frank J. Starzel said today.

He said this "simultaneous and virtually instantaneous reception" of news became a reality during the past year by completion of the AP's globe-girdling system of radioteletype circuits.

"As the operator in New York punches a story, one letter is printed in Tokyo, Manila, London and other points, almost before the next letter enters the transmitter." Starzel said in his annual report.

The report, covering all phases of the news cooperative's operations, was sent to AP members in advance of their annual meeting here April 25. President Eisenhower will address their luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Noting that the news moves at once through 24 different time zones, Starzel said:

"The system makes available almost anywhere in the world a basic news report averaging 32,000 words daily."

He said automatic radio relays at San Francisco and Tangier keep the report close to earth and in channels directed to exact destinations.

"Distribution of AP newsphotos," Starzel continued, "extended to parts of the world where previously only delayed mailed delivery of the pictures was possible."

Starzel said the AP recorded "significant and gratifying gains in every phase of its activities" in 1954. He said the AP had:

"Maintained progressive improvement in a news report geared to the ever-changing requirements of the times;

"Expanded its domestic membership among newspapers and broadcasters to another record figure (1,744 morning, afternoon, weekly and Sunday newspapers; 1,376 radio and television stations);

Trial Jury Is Drawn Last Time Under 10-Year System

The last trial jury to be drawn under the provisions of the existing law has been drawn by County Clerk Lawrence D. Craft and beginning July 1 the the new uniform jury law will become effective throughout the state. On and after July 1, all the 57 counties in the state will come under the County Commissioner of Jurors system, a system which has been in effect in Ulster county since 1945 when the late Frank J. McCardle was appointed to the position which was then inaugurated with Raymond Howe as deputy commissioner.

Under the new County Commissioner of Jurors law the 32 counties which now do not operate with a commissioner of jurors, will come under the law and must name a commissioner as has been done in the other 25 counties of the state.

JURORS WILL be drawn in the same manner as now, except that the Commissioner of Jurors will have custody of the jury boxes and will draw the panel as is now done by the county clerk. The county judge and sheriff must be present when the names are drawn from the grand and trial jury boxes.

The commissioner of jurors will be under the jurisdiction of the two Supreme Court justices in Ulster county, Justices Ros-

THE MACHINERY does all the work. Workers only watch the dials, making sure the machines keep going.

The car assembly line is the real wonder. A man handling a tool weighing hundreds of pounds, yet so delicately counter-balanced it can be directed with one finger, is a sight to behold, a triumph of engineering achievement and worker skill.

Each worker has his particular job to do at a particular speed. There's no loafing.

Memorial Day Plans Underway

First plans for the city's annual Memorial Day parade were made at a meeting of the Kingston Veterans Association last night, and plans for a new veterans' monument were also announced.

John Mayone was again named general chairman of the parade and it was unanimously voted that Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy is to be grand marshal.

It is tentatively planned to hold the parade on Sunday, May 29, the day before Memorial Day. It will start at the high school and end at Dietz Stadium, the same as last year.

The announcement of plans for the new memorial to veterans of all wars, revealed that a block of granite, weighing about five tons, had been obtained through the efforts of Albert J. Melville, of the VFW, and it is planned to set in the stone a bronze plaque as a permanent memorial to all veterans.

Meeting Is Scheduled April 22

Medical Groups Going to Capital

Washington, April 15 (AP)—The fairest possible method of distributing supplies of Salk polio vaccine will be sought at a government-sponsored meeting of doctors, health officials and manufacturers here on April 22.

Announcing this last night, Secretary of Welfare Hobby said:

"The objective . . . will be to carry out the President's directive to explore every possible means for assuring equal opportunity for immunization for all those who wish it as quickly as possible."

Mrs. Hobby said that among those being invited are representatives of the American Medical Assn. (AMA) and other medical groups, the Assn. of State and Territorial Health Officers, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the pharmaceutical industry.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis endorsed yesterday the new method recommended by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, discoverer of the vaccine. Previous test have involved three injections over a period of a few weeks.

THE NEW METHOD calls for two shots, two to four weeks apart, with a third to be administered seven months later as a "booster."

The Foundation said children who received the vaccine last year will be given a booster shot.

The children to get this booster shot number a half million.

The children to be inoculated in the foundation's two-shot plan will have to get their booster shots from private physicians.

On this point, yesterday's announcement in New York said:

"It will be impossible for the National Foundation to offer that dose to the same children, for obvious reasons. This fact, however, will be compensated by the immediate availability through commercial channels of the first two doses for an additional 4½ million children because of the National Foundation's following of Dr. Salk's recommendations."

Pickets Halt Operations In Alabama Steel Plant

Atlanta, April 15 (AP)—Operations were halted by picketing today in U. S. Steel's giant Fairfield, Ala., plant while a general strike in Birmingham loomed in sympathy with striking telephone and railway workers.

Suddenly appearing pickets surrounded the Fairfield plant of big steel's Tennessee Coal & Iron Division plant at Fairfield last night. The largest steel mill in the south, it employs about 20,000.

R. E. Farr, United Steelworkers (CIO) district director, in mid-morning reported the plant closed. A company official said a survey was under way to determine to what extent operations had been affected elsewhere.

FARR PREDICTED all businesses and industries in the booming Birmingham area would feel the effects of the strike. He described the demonstration as "spontaneous among the rank and file" and said he had spent a week vainly trying to head it off.

The plant at Fairfield, a Birmingham suburb, normally operates three blast furnaces, 12 open hearth furnaces and various finishing plants. Steel ingot capacity is 2,300,000 a year.

THE POSSIBILITY of a general strike in Birmingham came only a few hours after Gov. Lawrence Wetherby of Kentucky, as chairman of the southern governors conference, called a Tuesday conference "for the purpose of discussing a plan of action, for the governors as a group to take to bring about the settlement of these controversies." It will be held in the

New York, April 15 (AP)—The Associated Press news report now is received at almost the same moment in all parts of the inhabited world, AP General Manager Frank J. Starzel said today.

He said this "simultaneous and virtually instantaneous reception" of news became a reality during the past year by completion of the AP's globe-girdling system of radioteletype circuits.

"As the operator in New York punches a story, one letter is printed in Tokyo, Manila, London and other points, almost before the next letter enters the transmitter," Starzel said in his annual report.

The report, covering all phases of the news cooperative's operations, was sent to AP members in advance of their annual meeting here April 25. President Eisenhower will address their luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Noting that the news moves at once through 24 different time zones, Starzel said:

"The system makes available almost anywhere in the world a basic news report averaging 32,000 words daily."

He said automatic radio relays at San Francisco and Tangier keep the report close to earth and in channels directed to exact destinations.

"Distribution of AP newsphotos," Starzel continued, "extended to parts of the world where previously only delayed mailed delivery of the pictures was possible."

Starzel said the AP recorded "significant and gratifying gains in every phase of its activities" in 1954. He said the AP had:

"Maintained progressive improvement in a news report geared to the ever-changing requirements of the times;

"Expanded its domestic membership among newspapers and broadcasters to another record figure (1,744 morning, afternoon, weekly and Sunday newspapers; 1,376 radio and television stations);

Trial Jury Is Drawn Last Time Under 10-Year System

The last trial jury to be drawn under the provisions of the existing law has been drawn by County Clerk Lawrence D. Craft and beginning July 1 the the new uniform jury law will become effective throughout the state. On and after July 1, all the 57 counties in the state will come under the County Commissioner of Jurors system, a system which has been in effect in Ulster county since 1945 when the late Frank J. McCardle was appointed to the position which was then inaugurated with Raymond Howe as deputy commissioner.

Under the new County Commissioner of Jurors law the 32 counties which now do not operate with a commissioner of jurors, will come under the law and must name a commissioner as has been done in the other 25 counties of the state.

JURORS WILL be drawn in the same manner as now, except that the Commissioner of Jurors will have custody of the jury boxes and will draw the panel as is now done by the county clerk. The county judge and sheriff must be present when the names are drawn from the grand and trial jury boxes.

The commissioner of jurors will be under the jurisdiction of the two Supreme Court justices in Ulster county, Justices Ros-

Butler Thinks Democrats Can Win National Election in '56

Washington, April 15 (AP)—Democrats assembled for a two-day rally heard from National Chairman Paul M. Butler today that prospects for a Democratic victory in 1956 "are bright regardless of who is heading the Republican ticket."

In a report prepared for a meeting of the party's national committee, Butler said Democratic hopes are high despite what he called "efforts of the high-priced Republican propaganda experts to persuade the press and public" that President Eisenhower is unbeatable.

Butler said there is a "definite Democratic trend running right now," and added the Republican administration is "setting the same old pattern—service to the few—which has brought the Republican party to so many national defeats in the past few years."

"YOU DO NOT have to look far to see that the issues which brought defeat to Thomas E. Dewey and victory to Harry S. Truman in 1948 are going to be very much in the public eye during the 1956 campaign," he said.

The party meeting was called to discuss 1956 campaign plans and proposals for a 1956 national convention devoid of any party-splitting "loyalty oaths" over which northern and southern delegations fought in the 1952 convention.

The national committee said a special advisory committee on rules will have before it in closed session tomorrow a 50-page report, including proposals for 1956 which would "rule out special oaths for convention delegates in the absence of credential tests" and clarify responsibilities of state parties and national committee men in regard to convention nominees.

THE PROPOSED new rules, subject to approval by the national committee, also deal with what was described as the "problem of the national committeeman who does not support his party's ticket."

An open party split was avoided in the last convention by adoption of a compromise between northerners, who wanted an advance pledge from delegates that they would support the convention nominees, and southerners who wanted no pledge at all.

The compromise called for delegates to promise they would do their best to get the convention nominees on their state ballots.

The party's two-day rally will end tomorrow night with a banquet in the National Guard Armory in honor of Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas.

More than 3,000 guests who have each contributed $100 or more to the party are expected to attend. Speakers include former President Truman, Adlai E. Stevenson, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and others, with Rayburn making the main address.

AP News Travels

year-end, increase of 390);

"Developed with startling effectiveness its newsfeatures copy;

"Extended the U. S. wirephoto network to 35 additional members (total of 315—one-third larger than two years ago);

"Above all else—maintained its high standards for objective and honest reporting that won renewed respect wherever it is known."

Starzel cited also development of the AP's facsimile method of network picture reception, known as Photofax. He noted an increasing number of newspaper members are using it as a means of cutting costs. The Photofax picture is received ready for engraving.

Starzel said AP has been a pioneer in development of creative news reporting in the press association field.

As examples, he cited background and explanatory stories in connection with the army-McCarthy hearings, the Supreme Court ban on school segregation and the November elections.

Concerning foreign news, he said:

"A kind of peace—at least a freedom from major warfare—settled upon the world in 1954. It was the first time in many years that AP staff members had enjoyed a vacation from bullet dodging. But there was no vacation from coverage on intricate problems."

In Business News, Starzel said, AP concentrated on writing "so the ordinary person could understand what was going on and to so interpret events that the man in the street recognized how they affected him."

Starzel said the most important development in sports coverage was the setting up of a national teletypesetter sports wire.

He said AP "accomplishments and progress during 1954 were based primarily, as in previous years, on that highly essential ingredient of teamwork — the membership, the staff, the organizations within the association."

Court Ponders

Court "to suggest motion, to encourage motion" with a view toward ending segregation as soon as feasible. His argument added up to: Avoid a fixed, inflexible deadline; avoid also interminable delay.

Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for Negro parents involved in the cases, urged a fixed date. He said it should be next September, with September 1956 as an outside deadline.

Southern states argued for no deadline at all. They said details should be left to the states and their school boards.

Prisoners Back in Cells

Huntsville, Tex., April 15 (AP)—Meek and hungry, 52 tough convicts who demonstrated for nearly 30 hours for "three squares" a day ate two meals today in their dark maximum security cells. Sullen, naked and thirsty from the hot Texas sun, they returned to their cells quietly yesterday after giving up at 5:45 p. m. (CST), 29 hours and 45 minutes after their bloodless strike began. The convicts Wednesday refused to return to their cells at the main state prison after an exercise period. They chanted that they wanted three square meals a day instead of the two they received. Prison system Mgr. O. B. Ellis told them "nothing doing."

cal director, Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, gave these major reasons for the decision not to administer the booster shot to the bulk of the school children:

1. The Foundation does not want to tie up the additional vaccine for a period that might continue into next winter or even next spring.

2. There would be difficulty in keeping children and their status correctly identified during a period in which many would be moving from grade to grade and even school to school or city to city.

3. Polio organizations in many states are not set up to handle a stage of the inoculation as long as seven months later.

4 Vaccine supplies should be plentiful by the time the booster shot is due. Van Riper said he assumes that by that time the states will be geared to assist the needy who cannot afford to pay for the third shot.

Butler Thinks Democrats Can Win National Election in '56

Washington, April 15 (AP)—Democrats assembled for a two-day rally heard from National Chairman Paul M. Butler today that prospects for a Democratic victory in 1956 "are bright regardless of who is heading the Republican ticket."

In a report prepared for a meeting of the party's national committee, Butler said Democratic hopes are high despite what he called "efforts of the high-priced Republican propaganda experts to persuade the press and public" that President Eisenhower is unbeatable.

Butler said there is a "definite Democratic trend running right now," and added the Republican administration is "setting the same old pattern—service to the few—which has brought the Republican party to so many national defeats in the past few years."

"YOU DO NOT have to look far to see that the issues which brought defeat to Thomas E. Dewey and victory to Harry S. Truman in 1948 are going to be very much in the public eye during the 1956 campaign," he said.

The party meeting was called to discuss 1956 campaign plans and proposals for a 1956 national convention devoid of any party-splitting "loyalty oaths" over which northern and southern delegations fought in the 1952 convention.

The national committee said a special advisory committee on rules will have before it in closed session tomorrow a 50-page report, including proposals for 1956 which would "rule out special oaths for convention delegates in the absence of credential tests" and clarify responsibilities of state parties and national committee men in regard to convention nominees.

THE PROPOSED new rules, subject to approval by the national committee, also deal with what was described as the "problem of the national committeeman who does not support his party's ticket."

An open party split was avoided in the last convention by adoption of a compromise between northerners, who wanted an advance pledge from delegates that they would support the convention nominees, and southerners who wanted no pledge at all.

The compromise called for delegates to promise they would do their best to get the convention nominees on their state ballots.

The party's two-day rally will end tomorrow night with a banquet in the National Guard Armory in honor of Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas.

More than 3,000 guests who have each contributed $100 or more to the party are expected to attend. Speakers include former President Truman, Adlai E. Stevenson, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and others, with Rayburn making the main address.

AP News Travels

year-end, increase of 390);

"Developed with startling effectiveness its newsfeatures copy;

"Extended the U. S. wirephoto network to 35 additional members (total of 315—one-third larger than two years ago);

"Above all else—maintained its high standards for objective and honest reporting that won renewed respect wherever it is known."

Starzel cited also development of the AP's facsimile method of network picture reception, known as Photofax. He noted an increasing number of newspaper members are using it as a means of cutting costs. The Photofax picture is received ready for engraving.

Starzel said AP has been a pioneer in development of creative news reporting in the press association field.

As examples, he cited background and explanatory stories in connection with the army-McCarthy hearings, the Supreme Court ban on school segregation and the November elections.

Concerning foreign news, he said:

"A kind of peace—at least a freedom from major warfare—settled upon the world in 1954. It was the first time in many years that AP staff members had enjoyed a vacation from bullet dodging. But there was no vacation from coverage on intricate problems."

In Business News, Starzel said, AP concentrated on writing "so the ordinary person could understand what was going on and to so interpret events that the man in the street recognized how they affected him."

Starzel said the most important development in sports coverage was the setting up of a national teletypesetter sports wire.

He said AP "accomplishments and progress during 1954 were based primarily, as in previous years, on that highly essential ingredient of teamwork — the membership, the staff, the organizations within the association."

Court Ponders

Court "to suggest motion, to encourage motion" with a view toward ending segregation as soon as feasible. His argument added up to: Avoid a fixed, inflexible deadline; avoid also interminable delay.

Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for Negro parents involved in the cases, urged a fixed date. He said it should be next September, with September 1956 as an outside deadline.

Southern states argued for no deadline at all. They said details should be left to the states and their school boards.

Prisoners Back in Cells

Huntsville, Tex., April 15 (AP)—Meek and hungry, 52 tough convicts who demonstrated for nearly 30 hours for "three squares" a day ate two meals today in their dark maximum security cells. Sullen, naked and thirsty from the hot Texas sun, they returned to their cells quietly yesterday after giving up at 5:45 p. m. (CST), 29 hours and 45 minutes after their bloodless strike began. The convicts Wednesday refused to return to their cells at the main state prison after an exercise period. They chanted that they wanted three square meals a day instead of the two they received. Prison system Mgr. O. B. Ellis told them "nothing doing."

cal director, Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, gave these major reasons for the decision not to administer the booster shot to the bulk of the school children:

1. The Foundation does not want to tie up the additional vaccine for a period that might continue into next winter or even next spring.

2. There would be difficulty in keeping children and their status correctly identified during a period in which many would be moving from grade to grade and even school to school or city to city.

3. Polio organizations in many states are not set up to handle a stage of the inoculation as long as seven months later.

4 Vaccine supplies should be plentiful by the time the booster shot is due. Van Riper said he assumes that by that time the states will be geared to assist the needy who cannot afford to pay for the third shot.

Nehru Is Seen Leaning to Theme Of Socialist Economy for India

(Editor's note: At 65, India's Prime Minister Nehru, who will be one of the most influential delegates at the forthcoming Asian-African Conference April 18, maintains an incredible working pace, often staying at his desk well past midnight. Here, in the last of a two-part profile, is a glimpse of his working day and some of his views on which path India should follow in a divided world.)

New Delhi, India, April 15 (AP) — Former U. S. Ambassador Chester Bowles, more frequently critical of American foreign policy than that of India, found hopeful signs of "greater understanding" during his recent tour of India on a private visit.

"I believe there has been a favorable turn in the situation," he said in an interview. "Some misunderstanding between the two countries have been smoothed out and Nehru's approach to communism should be helpful."

Nehru, frequently described as a man who talks left and acts right, has been pounding heavily in recent months on the theme of a socialist economy for India.

FEW PEOPLE know how far he plans to carry this program. But many believe Nehru's trumpeting for Socialist economy seeks to steal the Communists' own arugments.

He fancies himself a Socialist but says he is not dogmatically bound to any political or economic theory.

"I take what helps me from Marxism or any other ism and discard the rest," he has been quoted.

Presumably the same is true of democracy. Nehru's test for this political theory is its ability to work in India and right now he's convinced it will do a pressing job better than any other pattern.

SIX MONTHS AGO there was talk—most of it from the prime minister himself — of retiring from leadership of the nation and becoming an elder statesman or traveling salesman for his ideas of coexistence.

This talk has disappeared. Nehru snaps sharply at anyone who mentions it.

Since he advanced the ideas of retirement he has shed two of his many jobs—president of the Congress party and defense minister.

But he kept all the others, including the prime ministership, the foreign ministry, the head of the planning commission and a half dozen others. It keeps this active intensive man working more than 18 hours a day.

"There is too much to be done and too little time to do it," Nehru tells his friends.

AT 65 HIS long hours behind a desk are beginning to reflect in a tiny paunch. His daily program includes a cup of tea at 6:15 a. m., a half hour's yoga with a period of standing on his head, a few minutes romp with pet pandas, a new tiger cub or his young grandsons, then a work day which lasts well past midnight and leaves him time for only five hours sleep.

Nehru, as a symbol of Indian leadership, holds the love and affection of the bulk of its 360 million people. Yet the prime minister is essentially a lonely man. Part of this loneliness is due to his own preoccupation in building a new India, task in which he likes to refer to a "nation on the move."

Part of it is due to the fact he considers few persons his intellectual equal.

ALSO NEHRU is so overwhelmingly busy there is never time for him to sit down quietly and enjoy the social relaxation which most men seek. He finds his greatest escape in mixing with the masses. Recently, despite an incident at Nagpur in which a knife waver jumped on his car, Nehru has been doubling his public appearances, spending a part of the day in his office or Parliament and the remainder flying to keep some public engagement.

Rubbing shoulders with villagers, most of whom shout adorations for Nehru, seems to wipe away the deep lines of fatigue from his face and remove the traces of hot temper he frequently displays.

"Its hard to explain medically what happens to the prime minister when he mixes with his people," said a physician who helps guard Nehru's health. "One public meeting with a hundred thousand people listening does him more good than a week's vacation."

Nehru himself says it's a sort of magic which comes from "being with my people and seeing my country."

One of his closest confidants is V. K. Krishna Menon, a cynical sometimes bitter expert on foreign affairs.

MENON WILL HEAD the list of assistants Nehru is taking with him to Indonesia.

Nehru has no public thoughts of a successor.

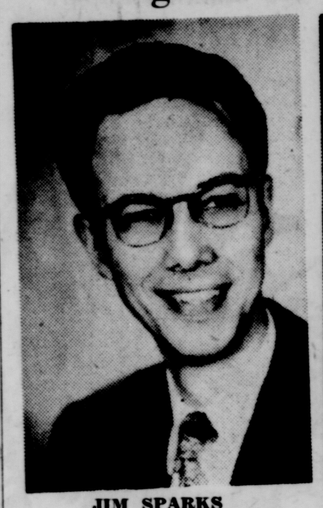

"There are plenty of young men coming up," he said. But when pressed to name one who might take over the reverence, respect and popularity he holds from the Indian people, Nehru changes the subject.

The punishing defeat of the Communists in recent Andhra State election may have the effect of weakening Nehru's concern over their threat to the nation.

But there is one inescapable conclusion evident from his recent public statements: The more concerned Nehru becomes over the growth of the Indian Communist party the more liable he is to move closer to the western camp and stay away from Asia's Red nations.

NOVEL WINTER VACATION

If the approaching months with heat waves lurking in the realms of possibility bring thoughts of a get-away-from-it-all vacation to mind, the true lover of cold weather might turn his thoughts to the Antarctic. A party of Americans has the bold plan of spending the winter there—staying six months at the South Pole itself.

No one has yet been within 700 miles of the Pole during the winter. Expeditions have wintered in the Antarctic, including a Belgian expedition as far back as 1897, remembered now also for the fact that its surgeon was Dr. Frederick A. Cook, famous later for his claim to have discovered the North Pole. The British have also spent the winter below the Antarctic Circle, but this was near the ocean and not in the far inland of the Antarctic plateau.

The expedition hopes to learn about cosmic rays, the thickness of the ice cap, and the nature of the atmosphere, which radio waves will try to probe. Special instruments will have to be devised. No liquid-in-glass thermometer is capable of registering temperatures under 90 degrees below zero, and lower than that is expected. It will certainly be lower in the upper atmosphere, whose temperatures will be tested by balloons equipped with special thermometers.

After six months of the Antarctic, the members of the expedition may be hoping for a long summer of heat waves.

FOUR TRACKS NO MORE

"The Four-Track Line" has been the proud slogan of the New York Central Railroad ever since the days of its founder, Commodore Vanderbilt. The slogan meant, of course, that it had four tracks, exclusive of sidings, all the way from New York to the original terminus at Buffalo. This is not generally true of the extensions of the system, by purchase of other roads, to Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Now the railroad's best boast may soon be lost entirely. President Alfred E. Perlman, named when Robert R. Young gained control of the Central not long ago, announces that the four tracks will be cut down to two. A new method of routing signals will make this possible. The aim, of course, is economy. Perlman says that by the track reduction the road can save in taxation $1,200 per mile each year.

Another reason, not cited, which doubtless influences the decision, is the decreased number of trains operated by the Central, as by railroads in general. It has just been announced that the four daily trains between New York and Cleveland will be reduced to two. With such reductions two tracks might well be enough.

EASY TAXES

A widespread theory, not borne out by facts, is that almost all our money goes for taxes. Professor F. D. Holtzman says in the American Economic Review that on the average we pay 30 per cent.

If anyone thinks that terrible, consider the so-called proletarian paradise. The same article says that taxes, direct and indirect, account for over 60 per cent of the Russian's income.

CLEAN-UP, PAINT-UP

A clean, neat town is bound to be a more pleasant and prosperous one than a dirty, messy one. It's pleasanter to live in, too.

We cannot all live in expensive houses and decorate our lawns with costly trees and shrubs. But most of us can do a great deal to make our community more attractive. The job calls for personal and civic pride and a measure of energy.

Some cities set aside special weeks for "clean-up, paint-up" campaigns. This is a good idea but it is not necessary for people to wait for official encouragement to begin. A group of neighbors can start the ball rolling. An individual who goes to work on his own house and yard can inspire his neighbors to do the same.

A neighborhood is no more attractive than the houses of the people who live in it. A town is no more attractive than are the neighborhoods which make it up.

'These Days'

THE McCARRAN-WALTER ACT

The Corsi affair again brings to public attention the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act and the Refugee Relief Act which have to do with immigration into this country. This is an emotional issue over which there is bound to be controversy because involved is the question of racial, national and religious equality before the law. No group is willing to agree to a formula which makes it less acceptable than any other group.

From a strictly American standpoint, the basic question is whether there is to be an unlimited or a limited immigration. No one proposes a system that stops all immigration. If it is to be a limited immigration, no one has ever proposed a formula for limitation which has had universal approval. No device has ever been proposed which has been altogether just. It is doubtful whether anyone can conceive of an altogether objective, equal, fair and just device.

The McCarran-Walter Act undoubtedly requires some revision to remove whatever inequities experience with it has disclosed. Senator Pat McCarran once told me that he saw some points that could be improved upon. That is a function of Congress, and although Congressional action is liable to be slow, its results will be surer and more permanent than the fiat of any Administrative tendency to "liberalize" an act of Congress by private interpretation.

Opposition or support of these laws generally does not answer the fundamental question as to whether or not the American people want to increase the population of this country by taking in the surplus populations of other countries. Premier Mario Scelba of Italy made the interesting observation that the difference between the United States and Soviet Russia is that everybody wants to come to the United States and nobody wants to go to Russia.

But the United States cannot take in everybody. There was a long period in American history when this country needed population, when industrial companies sent agents to European countries to recruit immigrants. We were then short of labor, particularly non-agricultural, heavy-industry laborers, such as miners and steel workers.

That day is gone. The United States has a population of over 160,000,000 people and by the present rate of increase, it will not be many decades before we shall have a population of 200,000,000.

Along with the increase of population, we have developed a remarkable method of production by labor-saving devices, to a degree that automatic or semi-automatic methods prevail. Because of this, it is not beyond possibility that a 30-hour week will be demanded by organized labor to avert unemployment. While in the past, it was held that machines make jobs, we may be approaching a period when new types of production will not make new jobs.

When that point is reached, the United States will have surplus population, that is more men and women than can be profitably employed. Whereas during the depression years, that situation was regarded as abnormal and was met by putting part of our population on the dole, what are we to do about it should, let us say, between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 employables be permanently unemployed and therefore surplus population?

This is the essential problem in immigration. It is not so much who gets in and who stays out, as how many are to come in and what kind of people. Ten years ago, one could answer by citing as an example watch-makers as a kind of immigrant desired, but today the American watch-making industry has been hit hard by the tariff and Swiss competition. Surely this country does not need more tailors. We have an enormous Puerto Rican population to absorb and they make excellent workers both in the male and female garment industries.

Those who push these arguments aside can only answer that large numbers of people who are unhappy where they are want to come here. They would be more unhappy here, with our high cost of living, if they were unemployed because the United States suffered from a surplus population.

The questions then are: How many people can the United States employ; how many can we afford to admit as immigrants during the next decade; what is a better formula than the present quota system to determine who comes in and who has to stay out? These are not questions for a curbstone or prejudiced opinion.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

REHABILITATION IN OLDER AGE GROUP

"The problems of the aged have been stressed repeatedly by prominent leaders both in medicine and in government. All too often, the attitude toward the aged and supposedly infirm person is that 'if taking care of him at homes becomes too much of a problem, it may be necessary to put him in a nursing home.' If this attitude persists, within the coming 20 to 30 years the permanent inhabitants of our hospitals and nursing homes will be our aged population. The aged should not be relegated to the scrap heap so readily nor should our hospitals became a dumping ground for the aged."

I am quoting from a Case Report by Drs. L. Greene and J. Sokolow of the New York University-Bellevue Medical Center, New York city, who give the history of one patient to illustrate what medical science can now do for the aging individual with a view toward his living a full life to the limits of his abilities.

A 69-year-old railroad engineer had a brain stroke in August, 1950, with paralysis of the right side and slurring of speech. Recovery was sufficient for him to return to work, but in December he suffered a virus infection requiring hospitalization for a few weeks and he then noticed difficulty in walking. By December, 1953, he could walk only one or two steps without assistance, fell repeatedly, and showed a growing fear of any attempt to walk. He lost interest in things around him and his voice sank to a whisper. He was referred to a competent neurologist (specialist in treatment of nervous diseases) who prescribed a sedative for his sleeplessness and another drug to try to help his sense of well-being but who "was not hopeful that much could be done" and who recommended a nursing home if taking care of him at home became too much of a problem.

He then came to the attention of the physicians mentioned above at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. He was started on a program of exercises to improve the working of his muscles, training in walking, occupational training and speech therapy. He also was given Benadryl (50 mg. four times daily) and shortly afterward there was rapid improvement physically and emotionally. He was soon able to start walking with almost no hesitation, his strength increased and his voice improved. He became interested and cheerful once again, was able to get around the house unassisted and without falling, thus reducing greatly the amount of care necessary.

"The treatment program was then gradually reduced and in a short time the patient was discharged to a home program, no longer a burden to the family, with renewed vigor and interest in the remaining years of his life."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA) — Here's the score card for the 84th Congress activity after three months, or half of the first session, according to Rep. Omar Burleson (D.-Tex.):

"Nearly 7000 bills have been introduced; 178 reports have been filed; 12 bills have become law; about 60 roll calls have been taken; 59 new lobbyists have been registered.

"The Congress is taking a few days' recess for Easter. Perhaps during this breather and during the time which holds a religious significance for millions of people, members of Congress may take an inventory of themselves. ... It is an easy matter to take an inventory of the accomplishments of the Congress. But it is not an easy matter to take an inventory of one's self."

SEN. NORRIS COTTON (R-N. H.) suspects that members of Congress are so loaded with special briefings and advice that they sometimes ignore plain common sense.

"The intellectual subtlety that abounds in Washington is enough to make your head swim," says Senator Cotton.

Here are some of the examples he gives:

"College professors lecture us on the finer distinctions of the philosophies of government. Diplomats brief us on the delicate phases of world relations. Sociologists instruct us on the causes of crime and delinquency and the psychological background of race prejudice.

"As for technical knowledge," adds Senator Cotton in a letter to his constituents, "if you could sit with us in committee rooms listening to scientists, military experts, and economists, expound on everything from atomic energy to the stockmarket, you would quickly realize that while we certainly need all the information we can get, too much exposure to technical knowledge can confuse the lawmaker and divert him from the direct, simple reasoning of common sense."

THE INSTALLATION of milk vending machines in the Republican and Democratic cloakrooms of Congress has given Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson a big lift.

"In those very rooms, through the years, the problems of the dairy industry have been discussed upon thousands of occasions," he told the Pacific Dairy and Poultry Assn. at its Salt Lake City convention.

"Now Congressmen have the means of attacking the dairy surplus problem through consumption as well as through legislation."

A VAST INCREASE of "Parrot Mail" has been pouring into congressional offices, according to Rep. Earle Wilson (R., Ind.). Parrot mail consists of identically worded letters written by different individuals living many miles from each other.

"Obviously such writers are tools of high pressure operators who themselves should be too smart to resort to such methods," says Representative Wilson.

He cites one example that fooled him completely. Several weeks ago he heard from one of his constituents with whom he had corresponded over the years on a number of matters. The letter was answered promptly and the requested information supplied.

"Imagine my chagrin and annoyance when, a few days later, I received an identically worded letter from another constituent who lives several counties removed from the first. I am sure they were not acquainted," reports the Hoosier Congressman.

What did he do about it?

"I did just what anyone would do," explains Representative Wilson. "I sent them identically-worded answers. It was no more than they deserved."

ALL CONGRESSMEN keep a pretty close eye on their mail from home, but sometimes it gets pretty discouraging.

Rep. James C. Wright, Jr., (D., Tex.) reports that a member of the Lone Star State delegation got a telegram from a constituent who didn't like one of the congressman's recent votes. "Enjoy yourself," the wire said tersely. "It's later than you think."

Another Texan got a wire from home demanding that the Congressman do something to get the cowboys and Indians off television.

AFTER SEN. Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.) introduced a bill to abolish the antiquated Electoral College voting system to rubber-stamp the election of President and Vice-President, he got a postcard from Hazel I. Dannecker, of New Castle, Ind. It read:

Well, it isn't much of a college
For it's never produced, to our knowledge,
A good football team,
And so it would seem
It might just as well be abolidged.

'Leak' of Yalta Paper Information Regarded Common Practice in Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 15—Within a few days the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will ask Secretary Dulles some questions about the alleged "leak" of the Yalta papers. The fact is that one newspaper did have a copy in advance of the other newspapers but that all newspapers finally published simultaneously the story of the documents.

Judging by the self-righteous outcries from some members of Congress about the need for investigating this supposed "leak," it might be imagined that Senators and Representatives do not "leak" confidential information.

Not so many years ago the late Paul Mallon, then with The United Press, managed to get and then published the roll call on a Presidential nominee who was being voted on in executive session. These roll calls usually had been kept secret. After that episode, all such roll calls were published. A public service resulted from that "leak."

Again and again senators and representatives get confidential documents from the executive branch of the government, and often the contents are "leaked" to the press. Usually it is to promote some cause that would be aided by publication and hurt by suppression.

Only recently, when the Secretary of State offered to send the Yalta papers in confidence to members of Congress in key places, the invitation to examine those documents was promptly declined. One wonders why. Among the reasons advanced was that the members of Congress didn't trust each other not to "leak," and those who would keep faith feared they might be wrongfully accused. The truth is that "leaking" information is a common practice on Capitol Hill and elsewhere in Washington.

Now, the fact that, "The New York Timess" for several hours had an advance copy of the Yalta papers is acknowledged. It also is a fact that the Department of State had decided to make the documents public and wanted to find some newspaper which would print them in full text. This involves the newspaper in a big expenditure—perhaps $50,000 or more in extra printing and paper costs. What newspaper or newspapers would agree to print the full text of such a voluminous record as that contained in the Yalta papers—more than 400,000 words?

It was assumed at the State Department that "The New York Times," which has printed full texts of many lengthy documents heretofore, might be interested. So it is understood that "The Times" was approached and did agree to print the documents in full. To do this meant the sending in of an advance copy a day or two ahead, so that typographical composition could be begun before the release date. This is often done in Washington with lengthy papers. Usually, of course, the understanding is that the document or announcement will be held for simultaneous release in all newspapers. There are occasions when the documents are later withdrawn because of some change in policy, and the public never sees the material at all.

Possibility of Disservice

Can it be said that, in such circumstances, a person outside the government has received "confidential" information improperly? Is the newspaper editor or his reporter to be regarded as engaging in some violation of security by the official because an advance release is given out? If so, then Presidential messages and other documents of a highly confidential character before the hour of release comes would have to be held up so there would be no charge of a "leak."

But the end result would be a disservice to the American people. For, if documents of 400,000 words are dumped on the desks of the reporters in Washington at the last minute when release is permitted and without a chance for advance reading, the consequent newspaper articles must necessarily be sketchy and errors of omission and commission will be encountered.

The "leak" to "The New York Times" didn't turn out to be a leak to the public, though an official has the right to single out one publication or one reporter and give him a "scoop."

When Harry Truman was President, he gave exclusive articles to favored reporters and indeed his administration gave to "The New York Times" alone the secret and confidential record of what happened in a military conference at Wake Island in the Pacific between President Truman and Gen. MacArthur. No Democratic senator rose in Congress to criticize that action. In fact, a stenographer, with the administration's knowledge and consent, was stationed surreptitiously just outside the door to eavesdrop on Gen. MacArthur.

This was a piece of "wire-tapping" which, strangely enough, none of the so-called "liberals" have ever denounced, while they prate loudly today that informal chitchat at the Yalta Conference should never have been made public even though it is a part of the official records—and it wasn't surreptitiously recorded either.

In a recent dispatch this correspondent made reference to a secret memorandum prepared by Harry Hopkins in the late summer of 1943 which greatly influenced the policy of the United States thereafter in its relations with Soviet Russia. It was stated therein that Mr. Hopkins took the document to the Moscow conference in October, 1943, and circulated it among the delegates to that conference. Robert E. Sherwood, biographer of Mr Hopkins, now calls attention to the fact that Mr. Hopkins did not attend the Moscow conference.

The memorandum was first circulated by Mr. Hopkins among the delegates to the Quebec conference in August, 1943 two months before the Moscow conference. In his biography of Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Sherwood said that the document was of great importance because it shaped the policy which guided American delegates making decisions at the Tehran meeting in November, 1943, and the Yalta conference in February, 1945, at both of which Mr. Hopkins was present as a close adviser to the late President Roosevelt. Edward R. Stettinius Jr., Secretary of State at the time of the Yalta conference, later corroborated Mr. Sherwood's assertion that the document foreshadowed the policy that guided American representatives at Tehran and Yalta.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is afoot among us a movement which may amount to a conspiracy to permit the commitment as lunatics of individuals who express political views which are offensive to the cult of the left.

The case of Ezra Pound, the poet, is a dramatic instance. Pound lived in Italy during Mussolini's reign and heartily endorsed fascism. For that matter, so did many other prominent Americans, including politicians who later affected to loath fascism as the enemy of an undefined ism called "democracy." Winston Churchill thought well of fascism for Italians and admired Mussolini as the genius of this stimulating and efficient experiment.

It is alleged that during the war Ezra Pound broadcast opinions hostile to "democracy," which has no legal or constitutional sanctity in our country. It is alleged that he also criticized F. D. Roosevelt, as many of us did here on the home front, including, I am glad to be able to say, me. After our army had mopped up Italy, Pound was brought back to Washington under charges. However, he never was brought to trial but, by consent of counsel appointed by the court, was examined and adjudged to be more or less crazy. His attorney told me he was convinced of this and there is no going behind that declaration. However, like others in similar situations who later complained that their assigned counsel was less diligent or competent than they thought he should have been, Pound can insist at the very least that his counsel was mistaken. Pound was committed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, a typical, old-style, bug-house on the outskirts of the capital. He has been there all these years so if he was not nuts when he went in, he easily could be now.

One reason why the Democratic regime under Harry Truman would have wished to file him away without a public trial is the fact that Pound was associated with the cult which held forth on Riverside Drive where Bubblehead Wallace and a bunch of New Dealers used to engage in strange carryings-on. Old Slapsie, himself, used to sneak in and out and Sol Bloom, then the congressman of the district, had an apartment, free. He was chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Had he lived on, he doubtless would have been a cultural hicogalorum of the United Nations because he was the one who introduced the hoochie-hoochie dance at the Chicago World Fair of 1893. The performer was a veiled damsel known as Little Egypt and Sol, a bouncing young carnival tub-thumper at the time, had visions of vast wealth until rivals of low ethical standards went barnstorming with Little Egypts of their own, also doing the kooch, all over the country. Being veiled, Sol's Little Egypt could not claim infringement because nobody had ever seen her face. She may have been a terrible tomato. Anyway, as you can readily see, culture was Sol's dish.

The Guru or Mahatma to whom Slapsie wrote those goofy letters was a Russian mountebank named Roerich and the financial backer of the josshouse was a speculator in currencies named Louis L. Horch, who latched onto a job in a food administration under Wallace when Bubblehead was in agriculture. There was a big shortage of food coupons having cash value, which never was explained. Later, Wallace took Horch into the Interior Department during his secretariat, with the job of export administrator for the ports on the New York harbor waters. Bubbles gave Horch authority to permit or forbid shipments of all kinds of American stuff to foreign nations, including Russia. Later Averell Harriman became secretary and when I inquired about Horch's activities, Harriman replied that Mr. Horch had resigned and let the matter drop. Nobody in the government and none of the press gave a dam and I doubt that a grand jury would spend 15 minutes on it.

Some years ago, Ezra Pound sneaked out some letters which reached me and aroused my interest. But the people who were in touch with him were so skittish that I gave up. During that time, however, I read where Ernest Hemingway had said Pound was one of the greatest poets we ever had so, after I finally did make a pass at Ezra last fall, I wrote Hemingway in Cuba and passed the word. I do not know what Hemingway knows about poetry but not one in a thousand of us knows a sonnet from second base so Old Whiskers may be running a bluff on us. Anyway, I have heard nothing from him.

When I called at St. Elizabeth's in response to a relayed cry for help, a friend of Pound went in and told him I was outside. Pound sent back word that he was afraid to see me because this was not a "visiting day." The friend said Mrs. Pound was living nearby, supporting herself on rather puny royalties from his writings, and that is about all I can tell you as fact about this case.

Pound never seemed crazy to me. In Rome, in Mussolini's day, I knew Americans who saw him often and they never suggested that he was crazy. I saw him once or twice, myself, and he acted all right except that he believed in Fascism, which was the pretext for his commitment and his detention all this time. By this means a lot of testimony about Wallace, the Guru, the josshouse and funny business was kept off the court record.

Tyler Kent is another case in the same category, except that he was not adjudged insane. I will tell you about that one later in developing a theme. The theme is this: That the cult of the left is resorting to the occult phony science of psychiatry to either put its opponents under glass or discredit them as poor, overwrought fools.

"The Four-Track Line" has been the proud slogan of the New York Central Railroad ever since the days of its founder, Commodore Vanderbilt. The slogan meant, of course, that it had four tracks, exclusive of sidings, all the way from New York to the original terminus at Buffalo. This is not generally true of the extensions of the system, by purchase of other roads, to Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

Now the railroad's best boast may soon be lost entirely. President Alfred E. Perlman, named when Robert R. Young gained control of the Central not long ago, announces that the four tracks will be cut down to two. A new method of routing signals will make this possible. The aim, of course, is economy. Perlman says that by the track reduction the road can save in taxation $1,200 per mile each year.

Another reason, not cited, which doubtless influences the decision, is the decreased number of trains operated by the Central, as by railroads in general. It has just been announced that the four daily trains between New York and Cleveland will be reduced to two. With such reductions two tracks might well be enough.

EASY TAXES

A widespread theory, not borne out by facts, is that almost all our money goes for taxes. Professor F. D. Holtzman says in the American Economic Review that on the average we pay 30 per cent.

If anyone thinks that terrible, consider the so-called proletarian paradise. The same article says that taxes, direct and indirect, account for over 60 per cent of the Russian's income.

CLEAN-UP, PAINT-UP

A clean, neat town is bound to be a more pleasant and prosperous one than a dirty, messy one. It's pleasanter to live in, too.

We cannot all live in expensive houses and decorate our lawns with costly trees and shrubs. But most of us can do a great deal to make our community more attractive. The job calls for personal and civic pride and a measure of energy.

Some cities set aside special weeks for "clean-up, paint-up" campaigns. This is a good idea but it is not necessary for people to wait for official encouragement to begin. A group of neighbors can start the ball rolling. An individual who goes to work on his own house and yard can inspire his neighbors to do the same.

A neighborhood is no more attractive than the houses of the people who live in it. A town is no more attractive than are the neighborhoods which make it up.

THE McCARRAN-WALTER ACT

The Corsi affair again brings to public attention the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act and the Refugee Relief Act which have to do with immigration into this country. This is an emotional issue over which there is bound to be controversy because involved is the question of racial, national and religious equality before the law. No group is willing to agree to a formula which makes it less acceptable than any other group.

From a strictly American standpoint, the basic question is whether there is to be an unlimited or a limited immigration. No one proposes a system that stops all immigration. If it is to be a limited immigration, no one has ever proposed a formula for limitation which has had universal approval. No device has ever been proposed which has been altogether just. It is doubtful whether anyone can conceive of an altogether objective, equal, fair and just device.

The McCarran-Walter Act undoubtedly requires some revision to remove whatever inequities experience with it has disclosed. Senator Pat McCarran once told me that he saw some points that could be improved upon. That is a function of Congress, and although Congressional action is liable to be slow, its results will be surer and more permanent than the fiat of any Administrative tendency to "liberalize" an act of Congress by private interpretation.

Opposition or support of these laws generally does not answer the fundamental question as to whether or not the American people want to increase the population of this country by taking in the surplus populations of other countries. Premier Mario Scelba of Italy made the interesting observation that the difference between the United States and Soviet Russia is that everybody wants to come to the United States and nobody wants to go to Russia.

But the United States cannot take in everybody. There was a long period in American history when this country needed population, when industrial companies sent agents to European countries to recruit immigrants. We were then short of labor, particularly non-agricultural, heavy-industry laborers, such as miners and steel workers.

That day is gone. The United States has a population of over 160,000,000 people and by the present rate of increase, it will not be many decades before we shall have a population of 200,000,000.

Along with the increase of population, we have developed a remarkable method of production by labor-saving devices, to a degree that automatic or semi-automatic methods prevail. Because of this, it is not beyond possibility that a 30-hour week will be demanded by organized labor to avert unemployment. While in the past, it was held that machines make jobs, we may be approaching a period when new types of production will not make new jobs.

When that point is reached, the United States will have surplus population, that is more men and women than can be profitably employed. Whereas during the depression years, that situation was regarded as abnormal and was met by putting part of our population on the dole, what are we to do about it should, let us say, between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 employables be permanently unemployed and therefore surplus population?

This is the essential problem in immigration. It is not so much who gets in and who stays out, as how many are to come in and what kind of people. Ten years ago, one could answer by citing as an example watch-makers as a kind of immigrant desired, but today the American watch-making industry has been hit hard by the tariff and Swiss competition. Surely this country does not need more tailors. We have an enormous Puerto Rican population to absorb and they make excellent workers both in the male and female garment industries.

Those who push these arguments aside can only answer that large numbers of people who are unhappy where they are want to come here. They would be more unhappy here, with our high cost of living, if they were unemployed because the United States suffered from a surplus population.

The questions then are: How many people can the United States employ; how many can we afford to admit as immigrants during the next decade; what is a better formula than the present quota system to determine who comes in and who has to stay out? These are not questions for a curbstone or prejudiced opinion.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

REHABILITATION IN OLDER AGE GROUP

"The problems of the aged have been stressed repeatedly by prominent leaders both in medicine and in government. All too often, the attitude toward the aged and supposedly infirm person is that 'if taking care of him at homes becomes too much of a problem, it may be necessary to put him in a nursing home.' If this attitude persists, within the coming 20 to 30 years the permanent inhabitants of our hospitals and nursing homes will be our aged population. The aged should not be relegated to the scrap heap so readily nor should our hospitals became a dumping ground for the aged."

I am quoting from a Case Report by Drs. L. Greene and J. Sokolow of the New York University-Bellevue Medical Center, New York city, who give the history of one patient to illustrate what medical science can now do for the aging individual with a view toward his living a full life to the limits of his abilities.

A 69-year-old railroad engineer had a brain stroke in August, 1950, with paralysis of the right side and slurring of speech. Recovery was sufficient for him to return to work, but in December he suffered a virus infection requiring hospitalization for a few weeks and he then noticed difficulty in walking. By December, 1953, he could walk only one or two steps without assistance, fell repeatedly, and showed a growing fear of any attempt to walk. He lost interest in things around him and his voice sank to a whisper. He was referred to a competent neurologist (specialist in treatment of nervous diseases) who prescribed a sedative for his sleeplessness and another drug to try to help his sense of well-being but who "was not hopeful that much could be done" and who recommended a nursing home if taking care of him at home became too much of a problem.

He then came to the attention of the physicians mentioned above at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. He was started on a program of exercises to improve the working of his muscles, training in walking, occupational training and speech therapy. He also was given Benadryl (50 mg. four times daily) and shortly afterward there was rapid improvement physically and emotionally. He was soon able to start walking with almost no hesitation, his strength increased and his voice improved. He became interested and cheerful once again, was able to get around the house unassisted and without falling, thus reducing greatly the amount of care necessary.

"The treatment program was then gradually reduced and in a short time the patient was discharged to a home program, no longer a burden to the family, with renewed vigor and interest in the remaining years of his life."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA) — Here's the score card for the 84th Congress activity after three months, or half of the first session, according to Rep. Omar Burleson (D.-Tex.):

"Nearly 7000 bills have been introduced; 178 reports have been filed; 12 bills have become law; about 60 roll calls have been taken; 59 new lobbyists have been registered.

"The Congress is taking a few days' recess for Easter. Perhaps during this breather and during the time which holds a religious significance for millions of people, members of Congress may take an inventory of themselves. ... It is an easy matter to take an inventory of the accomplishments of the Congress. But it is not an easy matter to take an inventory of one's self."

SEN. NORRIS COTTON (R-N. H.) suspects that members of Congress are so loaded with special briefings and advice that they sometimes ignore plain common sense.

"The intellectual subtlety that abounds in Washington is enough to make your head swim," says Senator Cotton.

Here are some of the examples he gives:

"College professors lecture us on the finer distinctions of the philosophies of government. Diplomats brief us on the delicate phases of world relations. Sociologists instruct us on the causes of crime and delinquency and the psychological background of race prejudice.

"As for technical knowledge," adds Senator Cotton in a letter to his constituents, "if you could sit with us in committee rooms listening to scientists, military experts, and economists, expound on everything from atomic energy to the stockmarket, you would quickly realize that while we certainly need all the information we can get, too much exposure to technical knowledge can confuse the lawmaker and divert him from the direct, simple reasoning of common sense."

THE INSTALLATION of milk vending machines in the Republican and Democratic cloakrooms of Congress has given Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson a big lift.

"In those very rooms, through the years, the problems of the dairy industry have been discussed upon thousands of occasions," he told the Pacific Dairy and Poultry Assn. at its Salt Lake City convention.

"Now Congressmen have the means of attacking the dairy surplus problem through consumption as well as through legislation."

A VAST INCREASE of "Parrot Mail" has been pouring into congressional offices, according to Rep. Earle Wilson (R., Ind.). Parrot mail consists of identically worded letters written by different individuals living many miles from each other.

"Obviously such writers are tools of high pressure operators who themselves should be too smart to resort to such methods," says Representative Wilson.

He cites one example that fooled him completely. Several weeks ago he heard from one of his constituents with whom he had corresponded over the years on a number of matters. The letter was answered promptly and the requested information supplied.

"Imagine my chagrin and annoyance when, a few days later, I received an identically worded letter from another constituent who lives several counties removed from the first. I am sure they were not acquainted," reports the Hoosier Congressman.

What did he do about it?

"I did just what anyone would do," explains Representative Wilson. "I sent them identically-worded answers. It was no more than they deserved."

ALL CONGRESSMEN keep a pretty close eye on their mail from home, but sometimes it gets pretty discouraging.

Another Texan got a wire from home demanding that the Congressman do something to get the cowboys and Indians off television.

AFTER SEN. Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.) introduced a bill to abolish the antiquated Electoral College voting system to rubber-stamp the election of President and Vice-President, he got a postcard from Hazel I. Dannecker, of New Castle, Ind. It read:

Well, it isn't much of a college
For it's never produced, to our knowledge,
A good football team,
And so it would seem
It might just as well be abolidged.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 15—Within a few days the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will ask Secretary Dulles some questions about the alleged "leak" of the Yalta papers. The fact is that one newspaper did have a copy in advance of the other newspapers but that all newspapers finally published simultaneously the story of the documents.

Judging by the self-righteous outcries from some members of Congress about the need for investigating this supposed "leak," it might be imagined that Senators and Representatives do not "leak" confidential information.

Not so many years ago the late Paul Mallon, then with The United Press, managed to get and then published the roll call on a Presidential nominee who was being voted on in executive session. These roll calls usually had been kept secret. After that episode, all such roll calls were published. A public service resulted from that "leak."

Again and again senators and representatives get confidential documents from the executive branch of the government, and often the contents are "leaked" to the press. Usually it is to promote some cause that would be aided by publication and hurt by suppression.

Only recently, when the Secretary of State offered to send the Yalta papers in confidence to members of Congress in key places, the invitation to examine those documents was promptly declined. One wonders why. Among the reasons advanced was that the members of Congress didn't trust each other not to "leak," and those who would keep faith feared they might be wrongfully accused. The truth is that "leaking" information is a common practice on Capitol Hill and elsewhere in Washington.

Now, the fact that, "The New York Timess" for several hours had an advance copy of the Yalta papers is acknowledged. It also is a fact that the Department of State had decided to make the documents public and wanted to find some newspaper which would print them in full text. This involves the newspaper in a big expenditure—perhaps $50,000 or more in extra printing and paper costs. What newspaper or newspapers would agree to print the full text of such a voluminous record as that contained in the Yalta papers—more than 400,000 words?

It was assumed at the State Department that "The New York Times," which has printed full texts of many lengthy documents heretofore, might be interested. So it is understood that "The Times" was approached and did agree to print the documents in full. To do this meant the sending in of an advance copy a day or two ahead, so that typographical composition could be begun before the release date. This is often done in Washington with lengthy papers. Usually, of course, the understanding is that the document or announcement will be held for simultaneous release in all newspapers. There are occasions when the documents are later withdrawn because of some change in policy, and the public never sees the material at all.

Possibility of Disservice

Can it be said that, in such circumstances, a person outside the government has received "confidential" information improperly? Is the newspaper editor or his reporter to be regarded as engaging in some violation of security by the official because an advance release is given out? If so, then Presidential messages and other documents of a highly confidential character before the hour of release comes would have to be held up so there would be no charge of a "leak."

But the end result would be a disservice to the American people. For, if documents of 400,000 words are dumped on the desks of the reporters in Washington at the last minute when release is permitted and without a chance for advance reading, the consequent newspaper articles must necessarily be sketchy and errors of omission and commission will be encountered.

The "leak" to "The New York Times" didn't turn out to be a leak to the public, though an official has the right to single out one publication or one reporter and give him a "scoop."

When Harry Truman was President, he gave exclusive articles to favored reporters and indeed his administration gave to "The New York Times" alone the secret and confidential record of what happened in a military conference at Wake Island in the Pacific between President Truman and Gen. MacArthur. No Democratic senator rose in Congress to criticize that action. In fact, a stenographer, with the administration's knowledge and consent, was stationed surreptitiously just outside the door to eavesdrop on Gen. MacArthur.

This was a piece of "wire-tapping" which, strangely enough, none of the so-called "liberals" have ever denounced, while they prate loudly today that informal chitchat at the Yalta Conference should never have been made public even though it is a part of the official records—and it wasn't surreptitiously recorded either.

In a recent dispatch this correspondent made reference to a secret memorandum prepared by Harry Hopkins in the late summer of 1943 which greatly influenced the policy of the United States thereafter in its relations with Soviet Russia. It was stated therein that Mr. Hopkins took the document to the Moscow conference in October, 1943, and circulated it among the delegates to that conference. Robert E. Sherwood, biographer of Mr. Hopkins, now calls attention to the fact that Mr. Hopkins did not attend the Moscow conference.

The memorandum was first circulated by Mr. Hopkins among the delegates to the Quebec conference in August, 1943, two months before the Moscow conference. In his biography of Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Sherwood said that the document was of great importance because it shaped the policy which guided American delegates making decisions at the Tehran meeting in November, 1943, and the Yalta conference in February, 1945, at both of which Mr. Hopkins was present as a close adviser to the late President Roosevelt. Edward R. Stettinius Jr., Secretary of State at the time of the Yalta conference, later corroborated Mr. Sherwood's assertion that the document foreshadowed the policy that guided American representatives at Tehran and Yalta.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is afoot among us a movement which may amount to a conspiracy to permit the commitment as lunatics of individuals who express political views which are offensive to the cult of the left.

The case of Ezra Pound, the poet, is a dramatic instance. Pound lived in Italy during Mussolini's reign and heartily endorsed fascism. For that matter, so did many other prominent Americans, including politicians who later affected to loath fascism as the enemy of an undefined ism called "democracy." Winston Churchill thought well of fascism for Italians and admired Mussolini as the genius of this stimulating and efficient experiment.

It is alleged that during the war Ezra Pound broadcast opinions hostile to "democracy," which has no legal or constitutional sanctity in our country. It is alleged that he also criticized F. D. Roosevelt, as many of us did here on the home front, including, I am glad to be able to say, me. After our army had mopped up Italy, Pound was brought back to Washington under charges. However, he never was brought to trial but, by consent of counsel appointed by the court, was examined and adjudged to be more or less crazy. His attorney told me he was convinced of this and there is no going behind that declaration. However, like others in similar situations who later complained that their assigned counsel was less diligent or competent than they thought he should have been, Pound can insist at the very least that his counsel was mistaken. Pound was committed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, a typical, old-style, bug-house on the outskirts of the capital. He has been there all these years so if he was not nuts when he went in, he easily could be now.

One reason why the Democratic regime under Harry Truman would have wished to file him away without a public trial is the fact that Pound was associated with the cult which held forth on Riverside Drive where Bubblehead Wallace and a bunch of New Dealers used to engage in strange carryings-on. Old Slapsie, himself, used to sneak in and out and Sol Bloom, then the congressman of the district, had an apartment, free. He was chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Had he lived on, he doubtless would have been a cultural hicogalorum of the United Nations because he was the one who introduced the hoochie-hoochie dance at the Chicago World Fair of 1893. The performer was a veiled damsel known as Little Egypt and Sol, a bouncing young carnival tub-thumper at the time, had visions of vast wealth until rivals of low ethical standards went barnstorming with Little Egypts of their own, also doing the kooch, all over the country. Being veiled, Sol's Little Egypt could not claim infringement because nobody had ever seen her face. She may have been a terrible tomato. Anyway, as you can readily see, culture was Sol's dish.

The Guru or Mahatma to whom Slapsie wrote those goofy letters was a Russian mountebank named Roerich and the financial backer of the josshouse was a speculator in currencies named Louis L. Horch, who latched onto a job in a food administration under Wallace when Bubblehead was in agriculture. There was a big shortage of food coupons having cash value, which never was explained. Later, Wallace took Horch into the Interior Department during his secretariat, with the job of export administrator for the ports on the New York harbor waters. Bubbles gave Horch authority to permit or forbid shipments of all kinds of American stuff to foreign nations, including Russia. Later Averell Harriman became secretary and when I inquired about Horch's activities, Harriman replied that Mr. Horch had resigned and let the matter drop. Nobody in the government and none of the press gave a dam and I doubt that a grand jury would spend 15 minutes on it.

Some years ago, Ezra Pound sneaked out some letters which reached me and aroused my interest. But the people who were in touch with him were so skittish that I gave up. During that time, however, I read where Ernest Hemingway had said Pound was one of the greatest poets we ever had so, after I finally did make a pass at Ezra last fall, I wrote Hemingway in Cuba and passed the word. I do not know what Hemingway knows about poetry but not one in a thousand of us knows a sonnet from second base so Old Whiskers may be running a bluff on us. Anyway, I have heard nothing from him.

When I called at St. Elizabeth's in response to a relayed cry for help, a friend of Pound went in and told him I was outside. Pound sent back word that he was afraid to see me because this was not a "visiting day." The friend said Mrs. Pound was living nearby, supporting herself on rather puny royalties from his writings, and that is about all I can tell you as fact about this case.

Pound never seemed crazy to me. In Rome, in Mussolini's day, I knew Americans who saw him often and they never suggested that he was crazy. I saw him once or twice, myself, and he acted all right except that he believed in Fascism, which was the pretext for his commitment and his detention all this time. By this means a lot of testimony about Wallace, the Guru, the josshouse and funny business was kept off the court record.

Tyler Kent is another case in the same category, except that he was not adjudged insane. I will tell you about that one later in developing a theme. The theme is this: That the cult of the left is resorting to the occult phony science of psychiatry to either put its opponents under glass or discredit them as poor, overwrought fools.

Newark, N. J., April 15 (AP)—The state Public Utility Commission plans to continue its probe of two recent gas explosions in Wharton although its public hearings on the incident are ended. George Backing President On Quemoy as Political Ball

Augusta, Ga., April 15 (AP)—Backing President Eisenhower, Sen. George (D-Ga.) said last night the cause of peace would not be advanced by any public announcement on whether the U. S. would defend Quemoy and Matsu.

And George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested the issue of whether those Chinese Nationalist off-shore island should be defended has become a "football of politics"

THE DEMOCRATIC congressional leader's stand amounted to indirect criticism of such Republican senators as Knowland of California and Bridges of New Hampshire. Both GOP leaders have called for a declaration of the administration's intentions regarding Quemoy and Matsu.

George said he knows quite well what Eisenhower will do if and when he is faced with a decision whether to defend the off-shore islands.

"HE WILL DO what good men always do," George declared, his voice breaking with emotion. "He will go into his closet and, face to face with his God, make his decision.

"And I for one don't want to force his hand in making that decision."

The President has given no hint of his plans, but he does have the authorization of Congress to defend "related areas" in any general defense of Formosa against an assault by Red China.

George spoke out for Eisenhower's policy of no declaration in an off-the-cuff address to the Georgia Bankers Assn. His talk to an audience of about 700 persons came just a few hours after he had paid what he termed a "purely social" call on the President at the Chief Executive's vacation headquarters here at the Augusta National Golf Club.

EISENHOWER, who two weeks ago publicly praised George for cooperation on foreign policy, greeted the senator warmly. They were together for about an hour with a party of friends.

"No politics, no affairs, no domestic affairs were discussed," George told a news conference afterward.

At the conference he said Russia's dealings with Austria on an Austrian peace treaty are aimed at thwarting rearmament of West Germany.

IN HIS SPEECH later the veteran lawmaker:

1. Called anew for a top level conference of the United States, Great Britain and France with the Soviet Union. He declared he still believes "a high level conference among the chiefs of state might be productive of much good. I am not a defeatist."

2. Declared a "desperate situation does exist in China, but perhaps it is most acute in Viet Nam (in Southeast Asia) rather than in the Formosa Strait."

3. ENVISIONED what he called the good possibility that Communist China will launch an attack against Formosa and the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu simultaneously, instead of trying to conquer Quemoy and Matsu first.

4. Said the United States has come "very close" to overcommitting itself around the world. And he said "the greatest mistake any nation can make is to over-commit itself."

5. Acknowledged that the Democratic administrations "made some mistakes" of policy during and after World War 2, and he jibed at the Republicans for talking about them on the basis of the Yalta papers made public last month.

6. Declared "the greatest mistake" made after World War 2 was "unquestionably the mistake we made with respect to our friend the enemy, Soviet Russia." He added that the United States mistakenly assumed that "Russia was actuated by the same motives which dominated our lives."

To Continue Probe

Newark, N. J., April 15 (AP)—The state Public Utility Commission plans to continue its probe of two recent gas explosions in Wharton although its public hearings on the incident are ended. The two blasts in Wharton homes, in an area served by the N. J. Natural Gas Co., proved fatal to one man and injured two other persons. At the conclusion of its hearings yesterday, the PUC said it probably would be some time before it reaches a decision in the case.

George Backing President On Quemoy as Political Ball

Augusta, Ga., April 15 (AP)—Backing President Eisenhower, Sen. George (D-Ga.) said last night the cause of peace would not be advanced by any public announcement on whether the U. S. would defend Quemoy and Matsu.

And George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested the issue of whether those Chinese Nationalist off-shore island should be defended has become a "football of politics"

THE DEMOCRATIC congressional leader's stand amounted to indirect criticism of such Republican senators as Knowland of California and Bridges of New Hampshire. Both GOP leaders have called for a declaration of the administration's intentions regarding Quemoy and Matsu.

George said he knows quite well what Eisenhower will do if and when he is faced with a decision whether to defend the off-shore islands.

"HE WILL DO what good men always do," George declared, his voice breaking with emotion. "He will go into his closet and, face to face with his God, make his decision.

"And I for one don't want to force his hand in making that decision."

The President has given no hint of his plans, but he does have the authorization of Congress to defend "related areas" in any general defense of Formosa against an assault by Red China.

George spoke out for Eisenhower's policy of no declaration in an off-the-cuff address to the Georgia Bankers Assn. His talk to an audience of about 700 persons came just a few hours after he had paid what he termed a "purely social" call on the President at the Chief Executive's vacation headquarters here at the Augusta National Golf Club.

EISENHOWER, who two weeks ago publicly praised George for cooperation on foreign policy, greeted the senator warmly. They were together for about an hour with a party of friends.

"No politics, no affairs, no domestic affairs were discussed," George told a news conference afterward.

At the conference he said Russia's dealings with Austria on an Austrian peace treaty are aimed at thwarting rearmament of West Germany.

IN HIS SPEECH later the veteran lawmaker:

1. Called anew for a top level conference of the United States, Great Britain and France with the Soviet Union. He declared he still believes "a high level conference among the chiefs of state might be productive of much good. I am not a defeatist."

2. Declared a "desperate situation does exist in China, but perhaps it is most acute in Viet Nam (in Southeast Asia) rather than in the Formosa Strait."

3. ENVISIONED what he called the good possibility that Communist China will launch an attack against Formosa and the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu simultaneously, instead of trying to conquer Quemoy and Matsu first.

4. Said the United States has come "very close" to overcommitting itself around the world. And he said "the greatest mistake any nation can make is to over-commit itself."

5. Acknowledged that the Democratic administrations "made some mistakes" of policy during and after World War 2, and he jibed at the Republicans for talking about them on the basis of the Yalta papers made public last month.

6. Declared "the greatest mistake" made after World War 2 was "unquestionably the mistake we made with respect to our friend the enemy, Soviet Russia." He added that the United States mistakenly assumed that "Russia was actuated by the same motives which dominated our lives."

Tankers to Get RepairsFollowing Collision in Fog

New York, April 15 (AP)—Two tankers were at piers today for repairs after colliding in heavy fog in lower New York bay.

An anchor of one became imbedded in the bow of the other, and the anchor chain binding the two had to be severed.

Nine coast guard vessels and other harbor craft sped to the scene in response to an alarm when the American-flag Clarke's Wharf and the British-flag Patella collided at 2 p. m. yesterday.

No one was reported injured.

AN ANCHOR of the 16,284-ton Clarke's Wharf stove a hole in the port bow of the 8,276-ton Patella. William L. Harris, captain of the Patella, operated by Furness Withy & Co. Ltd., said his ship suffered "a lot of damage." The coast guard said the Clarke's Wharf sustained minor bow damage.

The Patella was outbound in ballast for Curacao. The Clarke's Wharf, owned by the California Oil Co. of Delaware and registered out of Wilmington, Del., was inbound with a cargo of oil.

Will Oppose Proposal

Hartford, Conn., April 15 (AP)—Republican legislative leaders are drafting a "fair care" bill to oppose Gov. Ribicoff's proposal for free care in the state's institutions. Rep. Jerome Beatty (R-Roxbury), House chairman of the General Assembly's public welfare and humane institutions committee, said yesterday the bill sets the maximum a family would have to pay at $18.75 per week for the care of someone in a state hospital.

Harriman Vetoes Bill Giving Towns PublicWorksPlan

Albany, April 15 (AP) — Gov. Harriman has vetoed a bill that would have permitted certain towns to set up public works departments.

The governor's office announced today that Harriman had disapproved the measure on Wednesday. The governor was in New York city today.

The bill, sponsored by Republican Assemblyman John A. Britting of Suffolk county, applied to first-class towns of more than 100,000 population where town highway superintendents are elected, rather than appointed by the town board.

PRESENT LAW authorizes establishment of town public works departments only in towns where the highway superintendents are appointed.

Harriman, in a menorandum, said that if the measure were approved it would be possible for town boards to "nullify" the election of a highway superintendent.

The governor also vetoed—without comment—a bill that would have permitted villages to contract with cities, counties or towns for use of construction equipment (Sen. Edward J. Speno, R.-East Meadow).

He signed bills that:

Authorize school buses to use their flashing red lights when transporting pupils to and from extra-curricular activities. At present buses may use the lights only when taking pupils to and from school.

Make it an offense, rather than a misdemeanor, to violate the town building code (Assemblyman Elisha T. Barrett, R.-Suffolk county).

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Bridge Hero Shows Real Fine Form

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

York, Pa., will be the scene next weekend of an important regional bridge tournament. Experts who come from far and near to play in this tournament will thank Dick Miller for their view of York and Lancaster, neighboring towns that echo England's 15th-century Wars of the Roses.

Dick Miller, leading bridge player in the York area, was the hero of the hand shown today. Several players got to six hearts and muffed it by drawing three rounds of trumps, or by allowing West to take the second round of trumps and lead a third trump. This left only two trumps in dummy, and South needed three trumps there to take care of his three low diamonds.

When Miller played the hand, he won the opening lead with dummy's ace of clubs and immediately returned a low trump. West properly played low on this first trump, hoping that South would lead another trump.

Miller was too cagy to make this error. After winning the second trick with the king of hearts, Miller cashed the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in dummy, got to his hand with the ace of spades, an ruffed another diamond in dummy.

The bad diamond break now showed up, proving that it wasn't safe to go back to drawing trumps. Hence Miller returned to his hand by ruffing a club in order to ruff his last low diamond in dummy.

It was now safe to lead dummy's last trump in order to force out West's ace. West could do nothing to defeat the contract, for declarer could easily gain lead to draw the last trump and cash the top spade and the top diamond.

Shokan

Shokan, April 14—Alf Evers and family of Lewis Hollow, town of Woodstock, were Shokan callers Saturday. Mr. Evers, whose hobby is collecting local historical matter, was brought up in the Rosendale area.

Mountain residents stopping in the village Tuesday included Richard Cammer, young Prattsville farmer who winters 60 head of Holsteins. Milk from the Cammer farm goes to the creamery which ships the product via the Rip Van Winkle bridge to Connecticut.

The Thord Fredenholms have added a fireplace to their new house on the former Charles Greene hayfield which corners on the Ridge and State roads. The Fredenholm house, painted red, is one of the most attractive dwellings along this section of the Onteora Trail.

David West of Kingston was a caller here Tuesday. Dave was accompanied by his friend, Charlie Wright, one time Glenford resident who now has a 70-acre farm on Lucas Turnpike. Charlie, whose old home was not far from the Glenford Methodist Church, married Lena Davis, now deceased, who was a daughter of Harvey Davis, West Shokan Civil War veteran and for many years deliveryman for Matthews & North in the days before the waterworks.

A wedding anniversary this week is that of Sam and Alice (Bershader) Friedman who were married April 14, 1933, at Ashokan. The couple make their home down at the aerator park where Sam is chemist for the department of water supply.

The rain and chill of Tuesday served to dampen the ardor of trout fishermen, some of whom, including a New York city college professor who came up for the fishing, reported no luck at all on that day Dr. Henry Diepher, who with his wife and two daughters are at their Phoenicia summer place, Ridgewood, N. J. dentist, had good luck on a previous day: he soon got his daily limit of native brook trout while whipping an Esopus creek tributary (which brook Doc wisely refuses to name). Worms did the tricks, he says.

Charles Banca of Mt. Pleasant was in town during last week. Charles, who bought the old railroad depot up there and converted it into a dwelling, would like to get state road lot in this section.

Esopus

Esopus, April 14—Boy Scout Troop 82 will meet in the firehouse Monday at 7:30 p. m.

The cancer drive is underway in the village.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will meet in the firehouse April 19 at 8 p. m. All members are requested to bring awards for the card party to be held April 26 in the firehouse at 8 p. m.

Pvt. Joe Loughlin is home on leave from Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Mrs. M. Wolfson and daughter are spending the Easter vacation at their summer home in West Esopus.

The Rev. Fenton C. St. John will conduct Sunday services at 10 a. m., in the Methodist Church in Esopus. Sunday school will meet at 9:15 a. m., for the children.

Sunday Masses at the Sacred Heart Church will be held at 8, 10 and 11. Novena to Our Lady of Perpetual Help Wednesday at 8 p. m., followed by sermon and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Holy Mass will be celebrated Saturday at 8 a. m. Confessions will be heard Saturday from 3:30 to 5 and 7:30 to 9 and after Novena Wednesday nights.

Tax Request Denied

Tokyo, April 15 (AP)—A spokesman explained why Tokyo officials denied a request by a group of citizens that they be taxed. The plea came from vagrants squatting in Ueno Park, he said. "They have nothing to tax. But if we formally levy a tax against them we officially recognize them as legal residents. Then they become wards of the city and can demand welfare benefit payments."

I have my savings account with the RONDOUT NATIONAL BANK . . . and I'll tell you why

It is so convenient to deposit part of my pay check each Friday when I finish work — as you know, the Rondout National Bank is the only commercial bank in Kingston where every Friday you may make a deposit or cash a check at any time from 9 a. m. to 7:30 p. m.

And when transacting business at the Rondout National Bank there is no trouble to find a place to park—without leaving your car you may make a deposit or cash a check at the drive in tellers window or if you prefer banking inside, use their convenient customer parking lot.

And while making my savings account deposit I also pay my Christmas Club, make a payment on my car loan, and deposit the balance in my checking account.

Believe me, there is nothing like having every banking service available where you maintain a savings account—and no other bank offers more complete and convenient banking service than the —

Tillson, April 14 — Hollis E. Harvey was elected president of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company at the annual meeting Tuesday night at the Tillson Firehall. Russell Douglass was reelected chief.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., April 15—This week we will forget the stock market and consider something much more important, namely, some very valuable brain power which is going to waste. I have in mind especially the brains of some of the so-called "physically handicapped from polio and other diseases; 1,500,000 are living disabled veterans from World War 1 and 2; over 1,000,000 are crippled from accidents; and about 150,000 are totally blind. There are many more suffering from total deafness and even inability to speak. These add up to 3,150,000, of which at least 1,000,000 have not the opportunity to make full use of their inherent talents.

Although they have pretty much been supplied with jobs of a kind, these 1,000,000 have not—as a rule—such jobs as will enable them to use their brains as they would like. This especially applies to those in wheel chairs and on crutches—quoting an employer: "A wheel chair messes up the routine of the office or factory." In these days of keen competition management fears anything which might interfere with the flow of products or sales.

THE SITUATION is becoming worse every year due to increasing automobile accidents, of which 36,000 resulted last year in deaths for which there were total awards of perhaps $400,000,000. Some will say that the non-fatal accidents and even polio can be offset by insurance, as are certain veteran incapacities, but there is no insurance which gives new limbs, new eyes, or even a fair chance to use one's brain. Yet, our brains are our most wonderful and valuable asset.

It is not more government money these physically handicapped need, but more opportunity to do creative intellectual work. Remember that in the above figures I am not including any medical or emotional mental cases. I am interested here in those who have distinct talents. Although the many unselfish agents and counselors of the federal and state governments are doing excellent work with the funds available, they deserve much more help.

I ESTIMATE that of the above groups, one million adults are today able to use fully their brains and talents. However, much of this creative brain power and special talent is being overlooked. This is unfair to the nation, as well as to these people. Just think, with one million of these brains now idle, 8,000,000 working hours are lost daily, or more than 2,000,000 are lost each year. Based on only one dollar per hour, this means a loss of over $2,000,000,000 per year.

To understand what the loss of these one million adult workers means, consider any city of about 3,000,000 population, such as Detroit, Boston, San Francisco, or Pittsburgh, any one of which has 1,000,000 adult workers. This means the loss of as much creative brain power as is now engaged in the entire production work of one of the above cities. In saying this, I include bankers, merchants, profession men, as well as wageworkers.

LET ME APPLAUD all those private organizations now engaged in helping unfortunates. I particularly have in mind certain Societies to Help the Blind, the National T. B. Association, the National Association for Infantile Paralysis, the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the American Heart Association, the American Hearing Society, the Disabled Veterans Organizations, the U. S. and State Employment Services, and the Goodwill Industries of America, founded on a shoestring by a personal friend of mine, and now distributing annually the equivalent of $25,000,000 in useful work. The public little realizes the rewards which would come to the nation by activating these one million creative brains and submerged talents.

I forecast that these submerged physically handicapped, who are mentally talented and alert, can truly become "gold mines." I only wish I were younger and could devote my life to harnessing these brains, talents, imaginations, and visions. Many of them could become inventors of great note, from which the nation as a whole would benefit.

Opera Group Moves

New York, April 15 (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera Assn. has moved to get a more spacious and modern home. The Met's board of directors yesterday approved a resolution to have a commitee discuss with Mayor Robert F. Wagner the possibility of moving to a west side area between 60th and 69th streets. This section may be redeveloped under slum clearance laws. The Met's opera house, erected in 1883, is on Broadway between 39th and 40th streets.

Troops Stay in Field

Tokyo, April 15 (AP)—The U. S. 9th Corps has rescinded a recent order which would have put troops back on kitchen police duties. The change would have cost 225 Japanese their culinary and dish washing jobs. The army explained, "we would rather have them (the soldiers) out training than dish washing."

Boy Scout News

TROOP SIX Boy Scout Court of Honor, in the troop rooms of the First Baptist Church, was highlighted by the presentation of the Gold Palm Award to Eagle Scout David Eighmey. Scoutmaster Robert Hillis presented merit badges in Bird Study and Machinery as well as a four-year service star to Eighmey.

Hillis also awarded two-year service stars to Charles Baxter, William Niles and Robert Schoonmaker, and a three-year star to Harry Mertine. William Niles was duly recognized as a Den Chief of Pack 19, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A Tenderfoot Investiture ceremony was held for Gerald Gallagher, newest member of the Troop. Frank Rittie, troop quartermaster, was advanced to the rank of Star Scout, and received also his Firemanship merit badge. Assistant Scoutmaster David Lasher conducted Second Class advancement ceremonies for Charles Baxter, Roger Colao, Philip Mikesh and Richard Showers, presenting the mothers with their miniature pins at the same time.

It was noted that Troop Six is one of two troops in the Kingston District which has achieved the Council goal of 40 per cent First Class. Committeemen present were Charles Arnold and Sherwood Lasher. The balance of the evening was devoted to regular troop business, instruction in signaling, first aid, mapping and tenderfoot requirements, and practice for the forthcoming Kingston District Rally to be held at the municipal auditorium Tuesday night, May 3.

Kartalian, Grainger, Barr and Kithcart Win Amateur Bouts

Syracuse Heavy KOs Tuttle in 1st Round; Barr Scores in Second

Two Syracuse University intercollegiate champions and area favorites scored smashing victories on the Glasco Athletic Club's amateur card last night at the municipal auditorium. The attendance was about 500.

George Kartalian, 180, Syracuse's national heavyweight champion, polished off Dick Tuttle, 185, Gloversville, in 1:35 of the five feature.

John Grainger, 147, two-time national welterweight kingpin for the Orange, demolished Bill Tibbets, 146, Saratoga, in 1:13 of the first round.

KEN BARR, 148, Rosendale, the undefeated Adirondack AAU Novice champion, scored a TKO over Ronnie Bouse, 149, Utica, in 1:50 of the 2nd round of a rousing contest.

In the best fight on the abbreviated card, Eddie Kithcart, 134, Glasco, survived early anxieties to pound out a unanimous decision over Howard Keyes, 130, Utica, in the five-round semi-final.

Failure of the New England Golden Gloves champions to show reduced the card from eight to five bouts. The five bouts consumed a total of only 12 rounds.

THE RUGGED LOOKING Kartalian annihilated Tuttle, who was far overweight with welts of suet hanging over his trunks. A sharp right started Tuttle on his way out early in the first heat. The next time Tuttle hit the deck to stay from a combination of rights and lefts.

Grainger made short shrift of Tibbetts in the first five-rounder. A left-right combination floored the latter who bounced up and took the mandatory eight count standing. Then followed a flying trip to the canvas. At the 1:13 mark, Referee Vozdik realized that Tibbetts had no future in this joust and called a merciful halt.

Kingston fans got their first glimpse of the punching prowess of Ken Barr, the unbeaten Rosendale novice champion of the Adirondack AAU. And they liked what they saw.

MEETING STIFF resistance in the first round from Ronnie Bouse of Utica, the collar-ad kid's aggressive tactics quickly discouraged the tough upstate youngster. A flurry of blows sent Bouse to his knees for a 9 count and when he arose Referee Vozdik stepped in and stopped the bout to prevent further slaughter.

Best fight of the night was the rousing five rounder between Eddie Kithcart, Glasco, and Howard Keyes, the former Adirondack 127-pound kingpin.

KITHCART, scoring beautifully from long range, decked Keyes for the mandatory eight count in the second round. Keyes, who resembled a throwback to primitive fighting men, gave Eddie some anxious moments until the latter stages.

Kithcart finished strongly, staggering Keyes in mid-ring in the fifth round. It was a tough fight for the Glasco lad who showed good staying power and proved that he can take a punch.

In the opening three-rounder, John Greco, 148, Schenectady, was awarded an unpopular decision over Joe Rizzo, 151, Poughkeepsie.

During the evening announcer Dick McCarthy introduced several former amateur fistic idols, among them Jimmy Beau, Hydrecht "Monk" Armstrong, the policeman; Buddy Emerson and Eddie Prince, the Poughkeepsie middleweight.

Officials were: Joe Vozdik, referee; Bill Singer and Lou Shor, Ellenville, judges; Sherwood Davis, timekeeper, and Dick McCarthy, announcer.

Hurricanes are most apt to occur in September, although there are many of them in other months.

Robinson Stops Olla in Third

Milwaukee, April 15 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, once one of the most feared fighters in the ring, hasn't reached the point in his comeback campaign where he is ready to meet champion Bobo Olson for the middleweight title.

Sugar Ray stemmed any optimism last night after winning his fourth comeback fight by hammering Ted Olla into a third round TKO defeat.

It was the third—and most impressive—victory against one loss for the former welter and middleweight champion since he came out of retirement in October.

"BUT I'M NOT ready for Olson yet," Robinson said. "I'm happy at my progress but I'm just beginning to find myself. "I'm not at a point yet where I'd want to or could fight Olson."

Robinson said he figure[s] September would be the time.

Sugar Ray, [w]ho little dancing the first two rounds against the rough young Olla, 10 years Robinson's junior at 24. Olla, 164, put in a few roundhouse smacks. But all the fight was wrapped into the third round and it was all Robinson.

Cubs' Fast Break Puts Spotlight on Stan Hack

By ED WILKS, the Associated Press

If Stan Hack, the smiling man who manages the Chicago Cubs, could figure a way to make his guys full-fledged campaigners instead of first-week wonders he might be cracking that April grin come September.

The Cubs haven't challenged since 1946, but they're leading the National League today, unbeaten in three games and banging out base hits by the dozen. It's a springtime madness Hack seems to instill in his lads.

Hack took over just before the 1954 opener, replacing Phil Cavarretta who was accused of defeatism. Stanley at least got the Cubs enthused for the first three games. They were 2-1 then, having scored 41 runs on 47 hits, including seven homers and 13 doubles.

SOME OF THE excitement stayed with the hitters awhile and the Cubs smacked 83 hits during their first six games. Yet their record was just 3-3 and they never got above .500 again, winding up in seventh place.

The Cubs are just about even with that fast break pace this spring. They've slugged the opposition (St. Louis and Cincinnati) for 42 hits, with six home runs and 12 doubles. It's the same old crew Hack has worked up this spring to do the swinging—Randy Jackson, Hank Sauer and Dee Fondy, with the help of some later day Cubs, Ernie Banks and Gene Baker.

..Question is, how long can it last.

IT LASTED THROUGH yesterday, anyway, with Hal Jeffcoat, Jackson and Banks giving the Cubs three home runs in the ninth and 10th innings to beat winless Cincinnati 6-4. The clouts—part of 13 hits—covered up an old Cubs weakness, undoing the damage done by fielding errors that let the Redlegs tie it at 2-2 in the seventh.

The victory kept the Cubs a jump ahead of Brooklyn and Philadelphia, also still unbeaten but having played but twice. The Brooks pasted the world champion New York Giants 10-8 and the Phils beat Pittsburgh 4-3. St. Louis and five home runs beat Milwaukee 8-7 in 11 innings in the other NL game.

In the American League, Cleveland marred Detroit's home opener 5-3 to keep pace with unbeaten Boston, which beat the New York Yankees 8-4. The Chicago White Sox defeated Kansas City 7-1 on Sandy Consuegra's three-hitter. Rain washed out Baltimore's night game at Washington.

THE CUBS WON it in the 10th as Jackson socked a two-run homer and Banks hit a solo right behind him against ex-Cub Johnny Klippstein. Jeffcoat, whose ninth-inning home run was matched by Gus Bell's to make it 3-3, was winner in relief of Bob Rush, who had made his second start.

Roy Campanella, unhappy with his next-to-last spot in the Brooklyn hitting order, smashed a three-run homer in the fourth and Don Newcombe followed with the first of his two long clouts to put the Giants behind for keeps. Both blows were off Sal Maglie, the old Dodger tamer, but the four runs were unearned. Carl Furillo hit his second three-run homer in two days as the Brooks padded Newcombe's lead to 10-3. But the big righthander gave way to Jim Hughes when Hank Thompson and Bobby Hofman homered five runs across in the seventh and eighth.

HERM WEHMEIER took charge for the Phils after Willie Jones' homer had set off a three-run second and beat the Pirates on six hits.

There were seven home runs in all as St. Louis opened at home to the Braves, but rookie Bill Virdon's was the big one—hit off Dave Koslo to win it in the 11th. Reliefer Frank Smith held the Braves in check with one hit over the last three innings, but pulled a base-running boner in the 10th when he failed to run to second on Wally Moon's single that should have scored the winning run from third. Hank Aaron saw Smith leave the base path and threw to second for the inning-ending force out.

Cleveland got six-hit pitching from Mike Garcia and four hits from Al Smith, one a two-run homer, to coast past the Tigers.

THE YANKS FOUND they still couldn't do much against Willard Nixon, who got his fifth straight victory over the New Yorkers. Ellis Kinder had to help out, however, turning pinch-hitter Eddie Robinson's liner into a double play after relieving Nixon with one out, two on and two runs home in the eighth. Jim Piersall and Sammy White chipped in home runs as the Red Sox scored five runs on seven hits off Bob Grim in six innings.

Elston Howard became the first Negro to appear in a regular season game for the Yankees when he went into left field to replace Irv Noren, thumbed out of the game with Hank Bauer in a disputed play. Howard singled and drove in one of the eighth inning runs.

Holly Mims 9-5 Over Bobby Jones

Philadelphia, April 15—Holly Mims, beaten only once in his last 15 starts, is a 9-5 favorite over Bobby Jones in their nationally televised 10-round bout tonight at the Arena.

Mims dropped a controversial nod to Rocky Castellani at Cleveland, the latter's home town, last Jan. 12. Then, the 26-year-old Washington, D. C., middleweight took a close one from Milo Savage in New York. He is rated the favorite because of his heavier hitting.

Jones before campaigning in the east, lost a 10-rounder by mere points to middleweight champ Bobo Olson.

The bout will be telecast by NBC (10 p. m. EST).

Red Wings Win 3-1 for NHL Title

Detroit, April 15 (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings reigned today as supreme rulers of the hockey world for the second straight season—and all because Alex Delvecchio didn't like living in the "doghouse."

The 23-year-old center from Fort William, Ont. — demoted and slapped on the wrist in midseason—triggered two big goals last night to lead the Red Wings to a 3-1 victory over the Montreal Canadiens for the Stanley Cup championship.

It was a brilliant victory for the Red Wings, coming on top of their seventh straight National Hockey League title.

IT WAS A SATISFYING personal victory for Delvecchio, who was dropped from Detroit's first line in mid-season after General Manager Jack Adams and Coach Jimmy Skinner made no secret of what they thought of his play in the early part of the season. They gave him a tongue-lashing, dropped him as center between Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay—Detroit's big guns—and put him on the so-called third line.

That seemed to ignite the crew-cut Delvecchio, who played solid hockey during the closing weeks of the season, then capped his "comeback" with seven goals in the playoffs.

The biggest two came last night. He scored Detroit's first goal on a sizzling backhander at 7:12 of the second period. After Gordie Howe made it 2-0 at 19:49 of the same session, Delvecchio closed out the Red Wings' scoring with a clear breakaway goal at 2:59 of the final period.

The Canadiens spoiled goalie Terry Sawchuk's shutout with less than eight minutes to go. They of course, were still playing without their suspended star, Maurice (Rocket) Richard.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano

These are golf days when long putts drop and drives go screaming down the fairways. In July you'll be wondering how it ever happened that way in April.

● Pitch N'Putt:

Purchases of large tracts of land near Whiteport and in south Flatbush on Route 32 can only mean one thing. Somebody is thinking in terms of another 18-hole golf course in the area. Wonder who? ? ? Ulster county amateur golf picture would be nearly complete with the addition of a women's county championship to the competitive calendar. This type tournament would have to be run in classes or by handicap. . . . Leon Randall, back home from his tour of duty in service, will be a welcome addition and potent threat in the Herdegen Memorial tournament. . . . George Hughes, the reigning county amateur kingpin, has resumed greenskeeping duties at Twaalfskill after his annual working vacation in Phoenix, Ariz. . . . Herbie Kessman, pleased with the first day response at Wiltwyck's "old" 8-holer, seeking land for a ninth hole.

● The Nineteenth Hole:

WONDER WHATEVER happened to the "youth movement" in the recent Masters tournament at Bobby Jones' Augusta National layout? When the chips were down three old pros dominated—Middlecoff, the winner, Ben Hogan and Sam Snead. . . . Proving that a real golf course is never taken apart like the layouts where the PGA's weekly Chamber of Commerce clambakes take place around the country. Bob Toski, the budding millionaire, had rough going at Augusta with rounds of 79 and 80. . . . Larry Houlihan, who is Jim Hutchins' assistant at Woodstock, caddied at the fabulous Breakers in Palm Beach this winter. . . . Kingston High will have a new golf coach and play its schedule at Twaalfskill this season. . . . Not a few experts tab Irving Eyles Jr., of the KHS squad the city's golfer of the future.

● What's With the Clubs:

President Arthur A. Davis of Wiltwyck (the new one, of course) is readying an interesting announcement on the new pro. He is coming out of Westchester, is Scottish-born and should be an interesting addition to the local golf firmament. . . . Meanwhile, Robert Trent Jones and his crew are sticking to their original promise that Wiltwyck would have nine ready by Memorial Day. . . . His chief assistant, William Baldwin, has been working since the first part of the week with a big crew. A "finishing expert", a man who puts the final touches; on tees and greens arrived from Florida this week to help speed up the operation. Best guess at the moment is that the course will charge $150 for single golf membership. Family rates will be set later and initiation fees will be governed first year by the number of months the course operates.

Over at Twaalfskill, the new president, Bob Umpleby, reports the club is being given a new paint job and the water system is being renovated to provide greater pressure for the lower area of course. . . . Herbert Witz, the smiling bartender, will be back to greet the Twaalfskill patrons. The midtown course is restricting golf memberships to 135 (men) and 50 (women). . . . Will also have two tournament attractions—Father Herdegen finals on June 29 and Freeman Hole-in-One on August 7. Get those old clubs out. This is going to be the biggest golf year ever for Kingston and the county.

Kartalian, Grainger, Barr and Kithcart Win Amateur Bouts

Two Syracuse University intercollegiate champions and area favorites scored smashing victories on the Glasco Athletic Club's amateur card last night at the municipal auditorium. The attendance was about 500.

George Kartalian, 180, Syracuse's national heavyweight champion, polished off Dick Tuttle, 185, Gloversville, in 1:35 of the five feature.

John Grainger, 147, two-time national welterweight kingpin for the Orange, demolished Bill Tibbets, 146, Saratoga, in 1:13 of the first round.

KEN BARR, 148, Rosendale, the undefeated Adirondack AAU Novice champion, scored a TKO over Ronnie Bouse, 149, Utica, in 1:50 of the 2nd round of a rousing contest.

In the best fight on the abbreviated card, Eddie Kithcart, 134, Glasco, survived early anxieties to pound out a unanimous decision over Howard Keyes, 130, Utica, in the five-round semi-final.

Failure of the New England Golden Gloves champions to show reduced the card from eight to five bouts. The five bouts consumed a total of only 12 rounds.

THE RUGGED LOOKING Kartalian annihilated Tuttle, who was far overweight with welts of suet hanging over his trunks. A sharp right started Tuttle on his way out early in the first heat. The next time Tuttle hit the deck to stay from a combination of rights and lefts.

Grainger made short shrift of Tibbetts in the first five-rounder. A left-right combination floored the latter who bounced up and took the mandatory eight count standing. Then followed a flying trip to the canvas. At the 1:13 mark, Referee Vozdik realized that Tibbetts had no future in this joust and called a merciful halt.

Kingston fans got their first glimpse of the punching prowess of Ken Barr, the unbeaten Rosendale novice champion of the Adirondack AAU. And they liked what they saw.

MEETING STIFF resistance in the first round from Ronnie Bouse of Utica, the collar-ad kid's aggressive tactics quickly discouraged the tough upstate youngster. A flurry of blows sent Bouse to his knees for a 9 count and when he arose Referee Vozdik stepped in and stopped the bout to prevent further slaughter.

Best fight of the night was the rousing five rounder between Eddie Kithcart, Glasco, and Howard Keyes, the former Adirondack 127-pound kingpin.

KITHCART, scoring beautifully from long range, decked Keyes for the mandatory eight count in the second round. Keyes, who resembled a throwback to primitive fighting men, gave Eddie some anxious moments until the latter stages.

Kithcart finished strongly, staggering Keyes in mid-ring in the fifth round. It was a tough fight for the Glasco lad who showed good staying power and proved that he can take a punch.

In the opening three-rounder, John Greco, 148, Schenectady, was awarded an unpopular decision over Joe Rizzo, 151, Poughkeepsie.

During the evening announcer Dick McCarthy introduced several former amateur fistic idols, among them Jimmy Beau, Hydrecht "Monk" Armstrong, the policeman; Buddy Emerson and Eddie Prince, the Poughkeepsie middleweight.

Officials were: Joe Vozdik, referee; Bill Singer and Lou Shor, Ellenville, judges; Sherwood Davis, timekeeper, and Dick McCarthy, announcer.

Hurricanes are most apt to occur in September, although there are many of them in other months.

Red Wings Win 3-1 for NHL Title

Detroit, April 15 (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings reigned today as supreme rulers of the hockey world for the second straight season—and all because Alex Delvecchio didn't like living in the "doghouse."

The 23-year-old center from Fort William, Ont. — demoted and slapped on the wrist in midseason—triggered two big goals last night to lead the Red Wings to a 3-1 victory over the Montreal Canadiens for the Stanley Cup championship.

It was a brilliant victory for the Red Wings, coming on top of their seventh straight National Hockey League title.

IT WAS A SATISFYING personal victory for Delvecchio, who was dropped from Detroit's first line in mid-season after General Manager Jack Adams and Coach Jimmy Skinner made no secret of what they thought of his play in the early part of the season. They gave him a tongue-lashing, dropped him as center between Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay—Detroit's big guns—and put him on the so-called third line.

That seemed to ignite the crew-cut Delvecchio, who played solid hockey during the closing weeks of the season, then capped his "comeback" with seven goals in the playoffs.

The biggest two came last night. He scored Detroit's first goal on a sizzling backhander at 7:12 of the second period. After Gordie Howe made it 2-0 at 19:49 of the same session, Delvecchio closed out the Red Wings' scoring with a clear breakaway goal at 2:59 of the final period.

The Canadiens spoiled goalie Terry Sawchuk's shutout with less than eight minutes to go. They of course, were still playing without their suspended star, Maurice (Rocket) Richard.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

These are golf days when long putts drop and drives go screaming down the fairways. In July you'll be wondering how it ever happened that way in April.

• Pitch N'Putt:

Purchases of large tracts of land near Whiteport and in south Flatbush on Route 32 can only mean one thing. Somebody is thinking in terms of another 18-hole golf course in the area. Wonder who? ? ? Ulster county amateur golf picture would be nearly complete with the addition of a women's county championship to the competitive calendar. This type tournament would have to be run in classes or by handicap. . . . Leon Randall, back home from his tour of duty in service, will be a welcome addition and potent threat in the Herdegen Memorial tournament. . . . George Hughes, the reigning county amateur kingpin, has resumed greenskeeping duties at Twaalfskill after his annual working vacation in Phoenix, Ariz. . . . Herbie Kessman, pleased with the first day response at Wiltwyck's "old" 8-holer, seeking land for a ninth hole.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

WONDER WHATEVER happened to the "youth movement" in the recent Masters tournament at Bobby Jones' Augusta National layout? When the chips were down three old pros dominated—Middlecoff, the winner, Ben Hogan and Sam Snead. . . . Proving that a real golf course is never taken apart like the layouts where the PGA's weekly Chamber of Commerce clambakes take place around the country. Bob Toski, the budding millionaire, had rough going at Augusta with rounds of 79 and 80. . . . Larry Houlihan, who is Jim Hutchins' assistant at Woodstock, caddied at the fabulous Breakers in Palm Beach this winter. . . . Kingston High will have a new golf coach and play its schedule at Twaalfskill this season. . . . Not a few experts tab Irving Eyles Jr., of the KHS squad the city's golfer of the future.

• What's With the Clubs:

President Arthur A. Davis of Wiltwyck (the new one, of course) is readying an interesting announcement on the new pro. He is coming out of Westchester, is Scottish-born and should be an interesting addition to the local golf firmament. . . . Meanwhile, Robert Trent Jones and his crew are sticking to their original promise that Wiltwyck would have nine ready by Memorial Day. . . . His chief assistant, William Baldwin, has been working since the first part of the week with a big crew. A "finishing expert", a man who puts the final touches; on tees and greens arrived from Florida this week to help speed up the operation. Best guess at the moment is that the course will charge $150 for single golf membership. Family rates will be set later and initiation fees will be governed first year by the number of months the course operates.

Over at Twaalfskill, the new president, Bob Umpleby, reports the club is being given a new paint job and the water system is being renovated to provide greater pressure for the lower area of course. . . . Herbert Witz, the smiling bartender, will be back to greet the Twaalfskill patrons. The midtown course is restricting golf memberships to 135 (men) and 50 (women). . . . Will also have two tournament attractions—Father Herdegen finals on June 29 and Freeman Hole-in-One on August 7. Get those old clubs out. This is going to be the biggest golf year ever for Kingston and the county.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By Hal Sharp

MANIPULATING A WORM AGAINST A CURRENT

SLOWLY RETRIEVE WORM IN SPURTS AND PAUSES 4-15

FISH ARE ACCUSTOMED TO SEEING WORMS DRIFTING WITH THE CURRENT, BUT NOT RETURNING UPSTREAM. WHEN A WORM IS HELD MOTIONLESS IN THE CURRENT, IT LOSES ITS IDENTIFICATION ALTHOUGH IT MAY FOOL A FEW FISH WHO NIBBLE IT CURIOUSLY. WHEN THIS OCCURS, IT'S YOUR TIP TO GIVE THE WORM ACTION BY RETRIEVING IT WITH SLOW SPURTS (2 OR 3 INCHES) AND PAUSES. THIS IS EXACTLY LIKE WET-FLY, OR STREAMER FISHING, AND THE FISH HIT HARDER. DON'T JERK BAIT FROM THE FISH, OR LET OUT LINE; THIS SCARES FISH INTO QUITTING.

Power Teams Click in ABC

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 15 (AP) —The 1,000-plus average teams are beginning to make themselves felt around the American Bowling Congress tournament.

Maibach's Home Furnishing No. 1, of Sterling, Ohio, made the grade last night with a pin-heavy 1,038 final game for a total of 2,986.

This gives the Maibach's quintet, which lost to the famed Stroh's team in the National match game finals in December, a tie for sixth place in the open division standings.

THE OTHER TWO big average clubs among the leaders are the Steve Nagy Grips, of Cleveland, third with a 3,013 total, and King Louie Shirts, of Chicago, tied for sixth with 2,986. The Leaders, Cole Finder Mercury, of Chicago, and Howard's Clothes, of St. Paul, Minn., with 3,015 totals, boast averages of 992 and 965 respectively.

A member of bowling's Hall of Fame, Chicago's Ned Day, crashed the top ten in the all events as he came up with a 1,910 count, good for seventh place.

Sale Asset Fails

New York, April 15 (AP) — Bangtail Preferred Inc. is worried about its sole asset, a race horse named Fly—which doesn't. The Bangtail group is made up of 142 advertising people who chipped in last May to buy $50 shares in Fly, a three-year-old gelding. The horse made its first start at Jamaica yesterday — a $3,800 claiming race for nags that never won a race. He finished dead last in a field of 10.

Expressmen Trip Maines, 61-54 On Foul Shooting

Champions Pick Up 27 Charity Shots

Rapps Juniors hit with a phenomenal percentage from the foul line to whip Maines Sports Shop, 61-54, for the Recreation League Senior basketball crown last night at the MJM gym.

Village Rest won the Junior title with a 35-30 victory over Augustine Nationals.

RAPPS CONVERTED 27 foul points in 27 calls against the Sportsmen, cashing in on the bonus free throw.

The clubs were deadlocked at 17 all at halftime but the Expressmen ground out a 3-point margin by the end of the third period.

John "Butch" Tomaseskie was especially sharp from the charity stripe with "12 for 12" to go along with eight deuces for a 28-point harvest.

BOB FISHER had seven-for-seven and finished with 11 points. Richards also canned 11 points for the winners. Joey Hoffman hit 14 and Jack Dawkins had 12 for Maines.

Two successive baskets by Bill McCabe and Bob Short's singleton put Village Rest ahead to stay in the final quarter against Augustine's

Short led the winners with 15 points, spreading his points over the four quarters. R. Lucas tied that total for the Nationals.

MANIPULATING A WORM AGAINST A CURRENT

SLOWLY RETRIEVE WORM IN SPURTS AND PAUSES 4-15

FISH ARE ACCUSTOMED TO SEEING WORMS DRIFTING WITH THE CURRENT, BUT NOT RETURNING UPSTREAM. WHEN A WORM IS HELD MOTIONLESS IN THE CURRENT, IT LOSES ITS IDENTIFICATION ALTHOUGH IT MAY FOOL A FEW FISH WHO NIBBLE IT CURIOUSLY. WHEN THIS OCCURS, IT'S YOUR TIP TO GIVE THE WORM ACTION BY RETRIEVING IT WITH SLOW SPURTS (2 OR 3 INCHES) AND PAUSES. THIS IS EXACTLY LIKE WET-FLY, OR STREAMER FISHING, AND THE FISH HIT HARDER. DON'T JERK BAIT FROM THE FISH, OR LET OUT LINE; THIS SCARES FISH INTO QUITTING.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 15 (AP)—The 1,000-plus average teams are beginning to make themselves felt around the American Bowling Congress tournament.

Maibach's Home Furnishing No. 1, of Sterling, Ohio, made the grade last night with a pin-heavy 1,038 final game for a total of 2,986.

This gives the Maibach's quintet, which lost to the famed Stroh's team in the National match game finals in December, a tie for sixth place in the open division standings.

THE OTHER TWO big average clubs among the leaders are the Steve Nagy Grips, of Cleveland, third with a 3,013 total, and King Louie Shirts, of Chicago, tied for sixth with 2,986. The Leaders, Cole Finder Mercury, of Chicago, and Howard's Clothes, of St. Paul, Minn., with 3,015 totals, boast averages of 992 and 965 respectively.

A member of bowling's Hall of Fame, Chicago's Ned Day, crashed the top ten in the all events as he came up with a 1,910 count, good for seventh place.

KBA Plans Annual Meeting

The list of KBA nominees besides Colao follows:

Thomas, secretary - treasurer; executive committeemen—Edward Norton, Eltinge S. Auchmoody, Larry Petersen Jr., Whitey Crispell; life member, Howard Spaulding.

Sale Asset Fails

New York, April 15 (AP) — Bangtail Preferred Inc. is worried about its sole asset, a race horse named Fly—which doesn't. The Bangtail group is made up of 142 advertising people who chipped in last May to buy $50 shares in Fly, a three-year-old gelding. The horse made its first start at Jamaica yesterday — a $3,800 claiming race for nags that never won a race. He finished dead last in a field of 10.

WALT DISNEY'S True Life Adventures

Traffic Still Moves Despite Red Threat

Berlin, April 15 (AP) — Auto traffic moved normally between East and West Berlin this morning despite a warning last night that eastern Communist police might confiscate western cars today.

West sector police stationed near the Brandenburg gate—one of the main entrances to the Soviet sector—told western motorists they might lose their cars if they drove into the east today.

They said they received the information from Soviet side sources.

The warning followed an East German refusal to discuss the road tax increase imposed on truck traffic between Berlin and West Germany by the Communists on April 1.

Informed sources have said the East Germans are using the road tax in an effort to force the west to recognize their government.

Says Dismissal Was Blow

Albany, April 15 (AP)—The State Department's dismissal of Edward Corsi was a "devastating blow" to American prestige at home and abroad, the state's Jewish War Veterans say. Department Commander Stanley R. Bookstein said yesterday, in a telegram to President Eisenhower, that "restoration of public confidence in the integrity of this administration is essential."

Water Bill Convenience

The office of the Kingston Water Department, city hall, will remain open until noon Saturday for the convenience of those who wish to pay currently due water rents at that time.

Picture Insufficient Speeding Evidence

Albany, April 15 (AP)—A police photograph of a speeding automobile, showing the license number, is insufficient evidence to warrant conviction of the car's owner, the state's highest court holds.

The Court of Appeals yesterday reversed, 4-3, a speeding conviction against Walter C. Hildebrandt of the town of Brighton, near Rochester. He had been found guilty on the basis of a photograph.

The high court also:

1. Set—for the sixth time—an execution date for three New York city men convicted of the 1950 holdup slaying of a Readers Digest messenger. The new date is the week of May 16.
2. Forbid the New York city fire commissioner to assign captains to battalion chief's duties unless they actually were appointed to the higher posts.

Held as AWOL

Judson Bunten, Jr., 22, of 38 Howland avenue, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officers Floyd Krom and Hydrect Armstrong on a charge that he was absent without leave from military service. He was held to await arrival of military authorities.

Traffic Still Moves Despite Red Threat

Berlin, April 15 (AP) — Auto traffic moved normally between East and West Berlin this morning despite a warning last night that eastern Communist police might confiscate western cars today.

West sector police stationed near the Brandenburg gate—one of the main entrances to the Soviet sector—told western motorists they might lose their cars if they drove into the east today.

They said they received the information from Soviet side sources.

The warning followed an East German refusal to discuss the road tax increase imposed on truck traffic between Berlin and West Germany by the Communists on April 1.

Informed sources have said the East Germans are using the road tax in an effort to force the west to recognize their government.

Says Dismissal Was Blow

Albany, April 15 (AP)—The State Department's dismissal of Edward Corsi was a "devastating blow" to American prestige at home and abroad, the state's Jewish War Veterans say. Department Commander Stanley R. Bookstein said yesterday, in a telegram to President Eisenhower, that "restoration of public confidence in the integrity of this administration is essential."

Water Bill Convenience

The office of the Kingston Water Department, city hall, will remain open until noon Saturday for the convenience of those who wish to pay currently due water rents at that time.

Picture Insufficient Speeding Evidence

Albany, April 15 (AP)—A police photograph of a speeding automobile, showing the license number, is insufficient evidence to warrant conviction of the car's owner, the state's highest court holds.

The Court of Appeals yesterday reversed, 4-3, a speeding conviction against Walter C. Hildebrandt of the town of Brighton, near Rochester. He had been found guilty on the basis of a photograph.

The high court also:

1. Set—for the sixth time—an execution date for three New York city men convicted of the 1950 holdup slaying of a Readers Digest messenger. The new date is the week of May 16.
2. Forbid the New York city fire commissioner to assign captains to battalion chief's duties unless they actually were appointed to the higher posts.

Held as AWOL

Judson Bunten, Jr., 22, of 38 Howland avenue, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officers Floyd Krom and Hydrect Armstrong on a charge that he was absent without leave from military service. He was held to await arrival of military authorities.
